DEATH IS DECREED TO ALL AMERICANS BY MEXICAN REBELS

Washington Learns That the Order Was Made at a Meeting of the Revolutionary Leaders Held in November.

MASSACRE FOLLOWED ORDER OF CONVENTION

According to Washington, There Is General Conspiracy to Kill Americans, Destroy Property and Fight Carranza to Last.

Washington, January 21.—Death to Americans in Mexico and destruction of their property, as well as war to a finish against Carranza, was determined upon, it became known here tonight, at a formal convention of Mexican revolutionary leaders held in November at a ranch near Cordoba. Present and joining in the agreement are said to have been representatives of Villa, Zapata, Argumedo, Higinio Aguilar, the Cedillo brothers and many lesser chieftains.

Meager reports of this gathering came to the state department long ago, but they were not made public, and until tonight few people in Washington knew that there was a general conspiracy against Americans, or even that the various rebel factions in the field in Mexico had effected any kind of an agreement for concerted activities against the de facto government.

Massacre Result of Order.

The recent massacre at Santa Ysabel, attributed to bandits led by Villa officers, is believed to have been perpetrated in accordance with the rebel convention order. Officials think a long period elapsed after the Cordoba meeting before the murders because of the time required by the various delegates to make reports to their commanders, and the fact that news of the convention's decision had to be carried to subordinate military commanders by courier. Cordoba is on the railroad between Vera Cruz and Mexico City and 1,000 miles from Santa Ysabel.

The Carranza authorities have been fully advised concerning the movements of the rebels, and have been depended upon by the Washington government to take every possible precaution to prevent the threats against Americans from being carried out. They are believed to have the situation fairly well in hand now, although the chiefs whose delegates met at Cordoba still are in the field, operating more or less openly.

Soon after Carranza was recognized the state department withdrew its consular officers from northern Mexico and reiterated its warning to Americans to leave. Only by getting citizens of the United States away from territory not fully controlled by the de facto government, it was realized, could there be any real assurance of safety.

Few Details Known.

Few details of the Cordoba convention are known, but according to the report it lasted for several days and some of the earlier arrivals waited probably weeks for all the delegates to appear. Apparently the call for the meeting was sent out as soon as it became certain the United States was about to recognize Carranza, although it was a month after recognition actually had been accorded before the delegates got together. At that time large forces of Villa and Zapata forces were operating in the neighborhood of the railroads near Mexico City, and it was possible for the convention to assemble and do its work with comparative safety from interruption.

Whether there is any great probability of continued concert of action among the factions fighting Carranza, officials here do not profess to know. Some information has reached here to indicate that money may be forthcoming to finance a revolution on a considerable scale with the hope of enlisting the support of all the rebels, but officials said tonight there were no reports to show that such a movement actually was under way.

Advices to the state department from El Paso today told of the reported capture near Chihuahua of eighteen bandits alleged to have taken part in the Santa Ysabel murders, and said they were to have been executed today. No confirmation of the report that Villa himself had been taken was received, and officials of both the department and Mexican embassy abandoned hope that this was true.

VILLA NOT CAPTURED; HE HAS TAKEN BRIDE.

El Paso, Texas, January 21.—Denial from Carranza official sources that Francisco Villa had been captured as reported from Chihuahua was supplemented today by statements from Villa partisans here, alleged to be based on reliable information, that he and sev-

Mrs. J. Van Holt Nash Died Friday Evening After a Brief Illness

Following an illness of less than a day, Mrs. Joseph Van Holt Nash died at a local hospital yesterday afternoon. The news of her sudden passing will come as a shock to her friends as it did to the members of her family.

Mrs. Nash had a wide circle of friends She was a member of a prominent Georgia family, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Howard, of Augusta.

Moving to Atlanta with her parents when she was but a child, Mrs. Nash spent practically all of her life at this city, and her wedding of a year ago to General Nash was an event of much interest.

Mrs. Nash is survived by a husband, Adjutant General Nash; a son, Frank Meador, Jr., by her first husband, and two sisters, Mrs. George E. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. M. H. Magill, of Atlanta.

The body has been removed to the home of the deceased in East Lake. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

"SHYLOCK" BANKS TO BE PROSECUTED

Comptroller Williams Asks for Authority to Act—He Supports Howard Resolution for Probe of Usurious Rates.

Washington, January 21.—John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, appeared before the house rules committee today in support of the Howard resolution for an investigation of charges that some national banks are charging usurious rates of interest.

Mr. Williams said a great number of complaints, mostly from the south and southwest, had been received at his office.

Statement by Williams.

"I have recommended that the department of justice be given authority to bring suit against the national banks which charge an excessive rate of interest," Mr. Williams said. "The individual who is fleeced often will not plead the usury in an action on the note because it would blacklist him and he could never obtain additional loans from the banks in his section.

"The present law is adequate if the department of justice is authorized to institute such suits upon the information of the comptroller of the currency or other sources. I had thought of requiring national banks to publish at the top of their reports printed in the newspapers, to give the amount of their loans and the illegal rates of interest, but I have reached no decision on this question. I believe that pitiless publicity of this sort will improve the conditions to a certain extent.

"The suit for forfeiture of its charter is a drastic remedy and the comptroller of the currency's office is considering the advisability of bringing such a suit against certain national banks which are charging an average rate of 40 per cent or more on all loans."

Some Banks in Georgia.

Banks in Georgia, Texas and Oklahoma which have been charging illegal rates of interest were referred to by Mr. Williams, who quoted figures as to loans and interest rates from the sworn reports of these institutions. He did not give the names of the banks. When pressed by Representative Henry, of Texas, Mr. Williams said he preferred not to do so just now. Three Georgia banks were quoted as charging on the average 15, 25 and 32 per cent.

"I have under consideration the question of calling on the banks to furnish a statement of their maximum rates and the loans on which they are charging usury," said Mr. Williams. "I have not reached a conclusion on that point. I hope it can be avoided."

Representative Howard brought out by questioning that the only recourse of borrowers is to bring suit to recover the difference between the legal interest rate and the rate charged. Few sufferers are willing or can afford to seek this relief and Mr. Williams proposes to authorize the department of justice to enter suit in behalf of the victims of usurious practices.

"Would not it have a wholesome effect to publish the names of banks found guilty of violating the law against usury and also the names of their highest officers?" asked Mr. Howard.

"That thought has commended itself to me, but I have reached no conclusion in regard to it," said Mr. Williams.

To Give Banks Chance.

"I am inclined to think I have the right under the law to do it, but I desire to give the banks every opportunity to conform with the law. Should I decide to do that I will probably send out a general notice that after a certain date all banks shall be required to furnish a statement of their usurious loans."

Representative Henry asked: "Is it a general practice to charge usury?"

"I would not say it was a general practice, but 1,200 banks located in forty-one states have admitted charging from 10 to 2000 per cent on loans. It is surprisingly extensive; far more than I thought possible."

TRAMMELL SCOTT GROWING WEAKER; FEAR PNEUMONIA

DETECTIVES ARE READY TO SECURE STATEMENT

If Scott's Condition Continues to Grow Worse They Will Be Admitted in Order to Question Wounded Man

While detectives searched Friday for the letters, the contemplated exposure of which is said to have been the cause of the tragedy, they held themselves in readiness to be admitted to Trammell Scott's bedroom for a dying statement.

His condition was alarming Friday morning, and caused grave fears last night. His mother remained at the hospital all night, keeping a constant vigil over him. He slept fitfully, and was frequently wakened for the injection of anti-pneumonia serum.

Injections were applied at intervals all day in the hope of warding off pneumonia, pronounced symptoms of which he developed early in the morning. All efforts seemed to but little avail, however, and it was feared late at night that he had contracted a fatal attack of the dread ailment.

Will Ask Dying Statement.

Detectives have been assured, however, that in event his condition continues to grow worse they will be permitted to press him for an accusation of the man he says waylaid him, but whose identity he has refused to reveal. In addition, the sleuths will also seek to learn the whereabouts of the alleged letters around which the mystery hinges.

Chief Lanford had his men investigate the tip that the incriminating letters were in the possession of an Atlanta attorney, but, according to a statement made at headquarters last night, no definite information was gained. Among those interviewed by Detectives John Starnes and Pat Campbell, who are at the head of the inquiry, was Roy Dorsey, the wounded man's personal friend, and the attorney with whom he is said to have conferred regarding divorce contemplations.

The nature of the interview was not disclosed by the investigators, and Mr. Dorsey was reluctant to discuss the matter. Silence is maintained by everyone connected with the investigation. The sleuths are pinning their hopes upon the statement they hope to get from the victim.

It was planned to interview him Thursday, but the seriousness of his condition would not permit. Physicians issued instructions that no one but his immediate family be admitted to his room. He was partly delirious in the afternoon and in a nervous state, due to the injections of the anti-toxin.

Believes He Will Die.

The bullet remains in his left lung. He complains of it constantly, as it gives pain, and frequently pleads for the physicians to operate and remove it. He is withstanding the pain bravely, even though he believes he will not survive, which belief he has expressed not only to friends, but to his mother and father.

Clews obtained Friday served to strengthen the theory that an out-of-town man was concerned in the shooting. The officers have now virtually abandoned all other theories to concentrate upon it. Action cannot be taken, however, until a more complete probe has been made or the wounded man issues a direct accusation.

The condition of Mrs. Scott showed no improvement Friday. A relapse is feared. Physicians have proposed an operation, but cannot hold it until she grows better. Mrs. Frank Word, her mother, was gravely concerned Friday night.

FLOYD GRAND JUROR FREED OF CONTEMPT OF COURT CHARGE

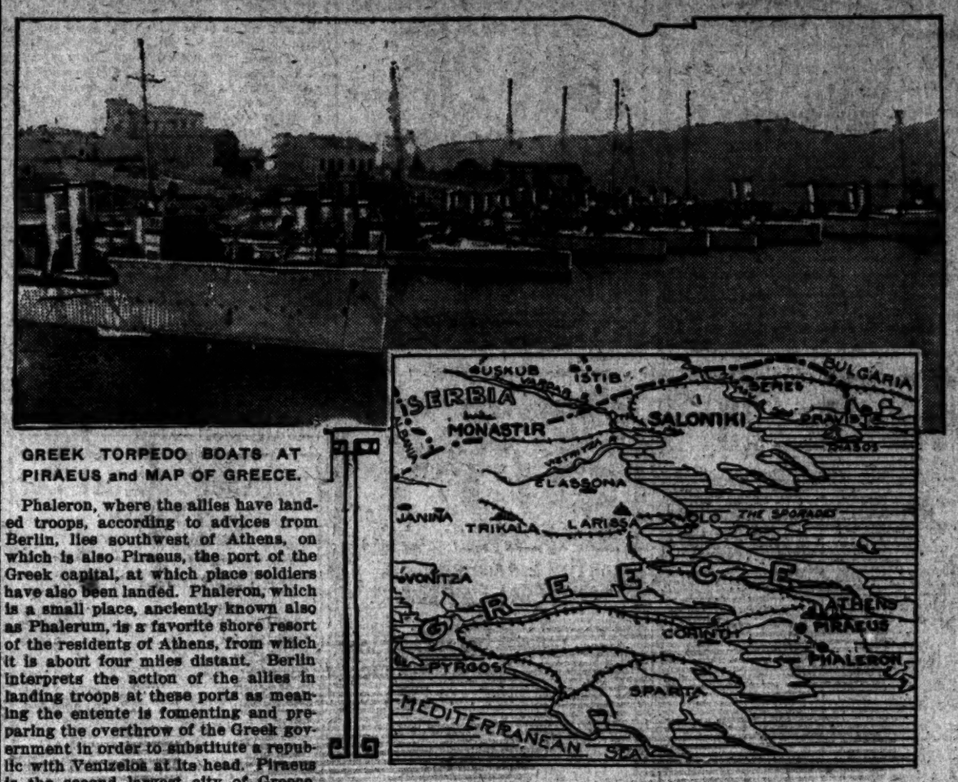

Rome, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—One of the most sensational incidents ever transpiring in Floyd superior court ended pleasantly Thursday morning when an investigation relieved Sheldon Sims, a well-known Floyd county farmer and one of the members of the grand jury now sitting, of the charge of contempt of court. It was reported to Judge Moses Wright that Grand Juror Sims had introduced in the grand jury room a resolution calling upon the grand jury to return no more indictments for violation of the prohibition law inasmuch as Judge Moses Wright, presiding judge, either failed to punish those convicted or punished them inadequately.

When this information reached the ears of Judge Wright, he promptly issued an attachment citing Sims to appear before him and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. Sims appeared, and announced that no one in the county had a higher respect for the presiding judge than he, and that the incident had not taken place as reported. This morning the entire grand jury was summoned before the court and a complete investigation followed. It developed that at or near adjournment of the grand jury one afternoon, Juror Sims had said that if certain conditions prevailed it was useless for the grand jury to continue its work and that they might as well go home. The grand juror declared that he did not have the court in mind when he made this statement, and that he was not speaking seriously at the time. Judge Wright expressed his pleasure at finding that no contempt had been intended or committed.

MOB HOWLS FOR LIFE OF GIRL'S STRANGLER

Cleveland, Ohio, January 21.—Escorted by police through dense crowds, which yelled for vengeance, Louis Bianchetti, who was arrested in New York last Saturday and confessed to strangling to death Dolores Evans in a hotel room here nine days ago, was taken from a New York train late today and placed in the county jail, where he collapsed. He has been indicted on the charge of murder in the first degree.

Allies Land Troops at Piraeus, Port of Athens

GREEK TORPEDO BOATS AT PIRAEUS and MAP OF GREECE.

Phaleron, where the allies have landed troops, according to advices from Berlin, lies southwest of Athens, on which is also Piraeus, the port of the Greek capital, at which place soldiers have also been landed. Phaleron, which is a small place, anciently known also as Phalerum, is a favorite shore resort of the residents of Athens, from which it is about four miles distant. Berlin interprets the action of the allies in landing troops at these ports as meaning the entente is fomenting and preparing the overthrow of the Greek government in order to substitute a republic with Venizelos at its head. Piraeus is the second largest city of Greece. It has a large and excellent harbor.

RAID IN DAYLIGHT BY CHICAGO BANDIT

Accompanied by Woman, Robber Loots Tourist Agency, Shoots Two Men and Succeeds in Escaping.

Chicago, January 21.—A bandit, accompanied by a woman, this afternoon robbed the tourist agency of Thomas A. Cook & Son of $900, wounded the cashier, killed a policeman and escaped.

According to the police, the deed was the most daring of years in this city. It was accomplished on one of the busiest streets of the downtown district at an hour when the thoroughfare was congested with automobiles and workers on their way home.

The woman did not participate in the actual robbery. She ordered a taxicab at the Great Northern hotel, and John McCabe, of the Fay company, responded. The woman instructed him to drive to 15 East Jackson street, the Cook offices. There she waited without alighting.

Employees Backed Into Vault.

Meanwhile the robber had entered the offices. The cashier, Ernest L. Walsh, attempted to reach a revolver, but was shot and painfully injured, and backed into a vault with four other employees.

B. A. Johnson, a traffic policeman, was attracted to the scene, but found that the bandit had locked the door after entering. Johnson was trying to force an entrance when the robber suddenly threw it open and fired a bullet into the officer's heart.

He scattered the throng on the sidewalk and leaped toward the taxicab. Pointing his weapon toward McCabe, the robber ordered him to drive away, but McCabe jumped. The bandit hesitated a second and then sped up an alley. The woman followed. She gazed for a moment at the face of the dead policeman, and, according to witnesses, seemed about to faint, but recovered and disappeared in the crowd. McCabe was interviewed at police headquarters and allowed to return to work. The police were satisfied of his innocence.

The Cook offices adjoin one of the largest department stores in Chicago and the robbery and shooting occurred at a time when hundreds of women shoppers were starting for home.

Fugitive Is Described.

A large number of witnesses called at the detective bureau with descriptions of the fugitives. Several of them said they saw a remarkable resemblance between a photograph of one William La Trasse and the robber. La Trasse was sentenced in 1913 to serve twenty-one years in the Kansas penitentiary for robbery. He escaped November 22 last. He is about 35 years old.

Chief of Detectives Hunt put every available man on the case. He said he was confident La Trasse was the man wanted.

Ward Stone, the Chicago manager; F. A. Benesch, a clerk; Miss Gertrude Ploszasky, a stenographer, and Walsh were in the office when the robber entered.

"Get out of here—get out of here quick," commanded the intruder, and all except Walsh moved toward the door to the street. Walsh reached for his weapon and was shot. The others then were backed into the vault and Walsh, still on his feet, was shoved in after them.

F. D. Scott was one of many who heard the shot fired at Walsh. He ran to Policeman Johnson, who was shot dead as he endeavored to gain entrance to the Cook office.

The crowd attracted by the tragedy blocked all traffic on State and Jackson streets for some time. A few attempted to pursue the bandit, but soon gave it up.

Easy Escape of Woman.

The easy escape of the woman was explained by many who witnessed the affair to the fact that they thought the robber had attempted to make off with a machine already occupied. She left a parasol in the car. She was well dressed, weighed about 120 pounds and appeared to be in the early twenties.

It was said that the woman who aided the bandit undoubtedly was one who called at the office yesterday and inquired about a trip to Panama. It was recalled that she took careful note of the cashier's cage while asking questions of a clerk.

KILLS MAN HE FOUND IN HOUSE WITH WIFE

Henry Williams Shot Dead by M. P. Reaves at Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—Henry Williams, aged 45, of Montgomery, Ala., was shot and instantly killed at 9 o'clock tonight by M. P. Reaves, at the latter's home on Folks street.

According to a statement made by Mrs. Reaves, who witnessed the killing, Mr. Reaves reached the front room of the house in time to hear her insulted by Williams. Reaves got a shotgun from behind a door in the room and fired at Williams, the load tearing Williams' heart into shreds. Before the gun fired it snapped twice, examination of the shell showed. Reaves notified C. E. Warren, a neighbor, to attend to Mrs. Reaves and went to the county jail and surrendered to Sheriff Dave Pittman.

The dead man had been employed for years as baggage master by the Atlantic Coast Line, having a Waycross-Montgomery run. He reached the city tonight. His wife and five children survive. He was a frequent visitor at the Reaves home, where he carried eggs and butter.

Reaves is an employee of the Coast Line, holding a responsible position in the Waycross shops. Mr. Reaves returned home unexpectedly tonight for some money he had forgotten, entering from the back, his custom when returning from town. The Reaves' three children were in a room adjoining that in which Williams was killed.

TRAIN BLOWN UP; 23 PERSONS KILLED

Passenger Train Reported Destroyed Near Puebla, Mexico, by the Adherents of General Zapata.

El Paso, January 21.—Twenty-three persons were killed near Puebla recently when a passenger train was blown up, supposedly by Zapata adherents, according to A. J. Trumbo, wealthy mine owner of Oaxaca, Mex., who arrived here today.

Only one passenger survived, it was reported. Mr. Trumbo said the train which was blown up was immediately ahead of the one on which he was traveling from Mexico City.

"Several volleys were fired into our train," added Mr. Trumbo, who left with his wife for Los Angeles tonight. With them was H. C. Tanner, of Mexico City, who is convalescing from a bullet wound inflicted, he said, by a military officer when Tanner resented insulting references to the United States.

Mr. Trumbo reported typhus fever rampant throughout southern and central Mexico. Conditions as to filth and destitution were indescribable, he said.

Mr. Trumbo's story of the blowing up of a passenger train near Puebla with 23 casualties is the first intimation of such a tragedy to reach the border.

CONVICTS RAID DEPOT TO GET AMMUNITION

Little Rock, Ark., January 21.—Eighteen of the twenty-four convicts who escaped from the state farm at Cummings, Ark., Wednesday night, still were at liberty late tonight. Posses continued in pursuit of the men who are reported to have robbed the freight depot at Moscow and secured a quantity of arms and ammunition.

Five of the men were recaptured yesterday, and another today. They reported that the escaped prisoners had been able to secure but little food and all were suffering from exposure in the rain-soaked swamps about Cummings.

SINKING OF PERSIA DENIED BY AUSTRIA

United States Officially Told No Austrian Submarine Was Concerned in the Tragedy—Denial Probably Ends Controversy.

Vienna, January 21.—(Via London.) The government has informed Frederick C. Penfield, the United States ambassador, that no Austro-Hungarian submarine was concerned in the sinking of the Peninsular and Oriental Line steamer Persia.

DENIAL SETTLES PERSIA MATTER.

Washington, January 21.—Austria's statement that no Austrian submarine was concerned in the sinking of the liner Persia probably means that there will be no diplomatic controversy between the Teutonic powers and the United States over that tragedy, in which at least two American lives were lost. Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has informed the state department that no German submarine had reported attacking the vessel.

Officials of the state department have made it plain that affidavits of survivors of the Persia failed to prove conclusively how the ship was destroyed. She went down within five minutes after a terrific explosion forward, but no submarine was seen, and the only testimony indicating an attack was to the effect that the wake of the torpedo was seen just before the explosion.

Some officials think there is ground for the belief that an internal explosion sent the liner to the bottom, and others think it possible she struck a mine.

The sinking of the Persia when there appeared to be no doubt that she had been attacked without warning by a Teutonic submarine, coming immediately after Austria had cleared up a crisis by promising satisfaction for the destruction of the Ancona, precipitated a situation which few persons here believed could result otherwise than in a break in diplomatic relations.

ATWELL UNDER ARREST ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

Gulfport, Miss., January 21.—A man who gave his name as G. W. Atwell, but who is said by the police to be G. W. Tidwell, of Greenville, S. C., under sentence to serve seven years in the South Carolina penitentiary for manslaughter, was arrested here today on a white slave charge. He is being held for the federal authorities at Pensacola, Fla.

Greenville, S. C., January 21.—G. W. Tidwell, Sr., also known as G. T. Atwell, was convicted here about two years ago for killing R. Emmett Walker, a prominent young man of this place, and sentenced to serve seven years in state prison. After his trial he was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000 and later disappeared. His bondsmen, it was said tonight, have since been seeking him.

WOMAN LOSES FIGHT AGAINST ENGINEERS

New York, January 21.—Application by Mrs. Nora Stanton Blatch, daughter of Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, for a court order directing the American Society of Civil Engineers to accept her as an associate member, was denied today by Supreme Court Justice Newberger. Mrs. Nora Stanton Blatch, the first woman to receive the degree of civil engineer from Cornell university, formerly was a junior member of teh society, but was dropped under the rule of the organization which prohibits membership in that grade after the age of 32 years has been reached.

ITALY WAS MISTAKEN ABOUT LENGTH OF WAR

Florence, Italy, January 21.—In an address delivered here, Antonio Salandra, the Italian premier, said:

"We thought this would be a short and easy war, but it has become a long and a hard one. We had thought that all the hardships would be of military character, but we find it difficult even behind the front to keep on fighting. However, we are going to do it, and we shall persevere until victory is won."

TURKS IN FLIGHT BEFORE RUSSIANS ON CAUCASUS FRONT

AUSTRIANS RESUMING DRIVE AT MONTENEGRO

But No Details of Fighting Have Come Through—British Take Many Towns in German Colony of the Kameruns in Africa.

London, January 21.—The Russians have won a great victory over the Turks in the Caucasus, according to an official communication issued in Petrograd tonight. According to the communication, the Turks have been driven on a wide front with heavy losses, and are seeking shelter under the forts of Erzerum. The Russians have also captured from the Turks the town of Sultanbad, in Persia.

Vienna claims that, owing to heavy casualties, the Russians have ceased their attacks against the Austro-Hungarians near the Bessarabian frontier.

There have been small engagements in Russia, around Pinsk and in the region of Czartoryak; artillery and mining operations along the front in France and Belgium, and a continuation of the artillery duels and occasional infantry attacks in the Austro-Italian theater. In none of these, however, has any great results been attained.

Although it has been reported that the Austro-Hungarians and Montenegrins are again at grips, no details have yet come through as to the progress of the fighting. It is presumed, however, that the Austrians will continue to press the Montenegrins toward the Albanian frontier, and try to capture Montenegro's principal seaport, Antivari. A Rome dispatch says that Albanian troops, under Essad Pasha, provisional president of Albania, have arrived at Scutari to join the Montenegrin troops who are retiring on that Albanian city.

In the Kamerun district of Africa the British have taken additional towns from the Germans.

TURKS DEFEATED BY THE RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, January 21.—(Via London.)—An official communication today reads:

"Western (Russian) front: In the Dvinsk region our artillery has been successful in an action against the enemy. Near the Vilaika station we captured a German aeroplane.

"North of Czartoryak the enemy attempted to capture a hill we had occupied, but was repulsed.

"In the region northwest of Zaborash an enemy balloon exploded in the air and burst into flame, the car falling inside our lines.

"Caucasus front: In the coast region the Turks attempted on a wide front to drive back our troops, but we repulsed them with heavy losses. Our pursuing units captured after a fight the town of Hassan Kalah (20 miles east of Erzerum, and then drove the fleeing enemy as far as the forts of Erzedum, sabering or taking as prisoners over fifteen hundred Turks and capturing a gun, much ammunition and a large camp of tents.

The Turks are retreating precipitately in all directions to the shelter of the Erzerum forts, leaving in our hands magazines, guns and huge quantities of supplies. Everywhere abandoned cartridges and weapons litter the ground. Stragglers crowd the roads.

"On the southern shore of Lake Van our troops drove back the Turks to the west of Vastan. South of Lake Urumiah we have again routed a Kur-

WORKERS FOR EMORY HELD FIRST MEETING AT CHAMBER FRIDAY

The division commanders, captains and workers, who will direct the campaign to raise the $500,000 for the Emory university, held their first meeting yesterday at 1 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

The 250 workers were divided among the captains and plans were made for the next meeting, which is Monday night. This is the last meeting before the beginning of the actual soliciting on Tuesday morning. At the meeting next Monday night the different divisions will be seated at separate tables and the names of 2,500 citizens will be distributed among them, each worker taking ten or more names to look after. When all these people have been solicited, 2,500 more names will be taken in the same manner until the campaign is over. Meetings will be held most every day.

A Quinine That Won't Make You Nervous.
FEBRILINE is a trade-mark name which designates the first, original and only reliable Tasteless Syrup of Quinine. An improved Quinine, pleasant to take; does not nauseate nor cause nervousness. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Try it next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 2-ounce original package. The name FEBRILINE is blown in the bottle. 25 cents.

Every Day Is Now Fish Day

It is an interesting sight to see the crowd gathered around Fulton Market's tempting display of sea food.

You will find them at certain hours, not one day, but every day in the week, because—

Atlantans have learned that Fulton Market can and does give them, every day in the week, fish and other sea food as sweet and fresh as they can get it at the coast. Here are some of them:

Shad — Scallops
Smelts — Oysters
Shrimp — Halibut
Finnan Haddie

Then there are the other staple ones such as Mackerel, Pompano, Trout and Snapper.

All our Oysters, as you know, come direct from Chesapeake Bay.

We GUARANTEE Everything

TURKS IN FLIGHT ON CAUCASUS FRONT

FRENCH AND BRITISH SHELLING GERMANS.

Paris, January 21.—(Via London.)—The war office communication tonight reads:

"In Belgium, our artillery, shelling the German trenches in the region of the dunes, started several fires.

"Between Soissons and Rheims an enemy battery in action in the region of Vregny, northeast of Soissons, was caught under our fire and silenced.

"In the Vosges, during a bombardment in the vicinity of Rehfelsen, we damaged the trenches and destroyed an observatory of the enemy.

"On the rest of the front the day was marked by considerable activity by the artillery of both sides."

London, January 21.—A British official statement tonight reads:

"The enemy this morning exploded three mines west of Fricourt, but no damage was done. We exploded a mine east of Festubert. During the day our artillery disposed of four hostile working parties. There has been reciprocal shelling north of Albert, north of Loos and near Givenchy. Southeast of Fleurbaix we successfully bombarded the enemy gun positions and trenches."

BRITISH WIN IN KAMERUNS.

London, January 21.—A British official statement issued tonight on the operations in the Kameruns, on the west coast of Africa, follows:

"After the occupation of Yaunde on January 1, the entente allied columns which were dispatched in an endeavor to cut off the enemy's retreat, reached Koimaka, on the Nyong river. On January 8 they released a number of allied prisoners, both military and civilians.

"By the 18th reports received from Colonels Mayer and Hayward state the Germans evacuated Ebolowa and Akono-Linga; and that the German governor, Ebermaier, and the German commandant, Zimmermann, escaped into Spanish Muni.

"Fighting is also reported further south close to the German-Spanish border, where two small French columns advancing from the coast and from the French Congo, are trying to prevent the escape of the Germans into Muni."

MONTENEGRO GOES TO THE BITTER END.

Paris, January 21.—The Montenegrin consul in Paris makes the official announcement that all negotiations between Montenegro and Austria have been broken off and that Montenegro has decided to fight to the bitter end.

The official announcement from the consulate says:

"Lazare Miouchekovitch, the prime minister and the minister of foreign affairs of Montenegro, arrived at Brindisi last night accompanying Queen Midena and the princesses on their way to France. He telegraphs to Louis Brunet, Montenegrin charge d'affaires at Paris, that the king and government have energetically refused all the Austrian conditions and that Montenegro will continue the war to the bitter end.

"King Nicholas and his two sons remain with the troops to organize the resistance and facilitate, in case of necessity, the retreat of the valorous army. The king expresses the hope that the allies will eventually provide him with effective aid in extricating the army, as has already been done for the Serbian army.

"The malevolent insinuations of which Montenegro has been the victim, founded on partisan news from the enemy, have distressed the king's government. M. Miouchekovitch hopes that the last tragic experience undergone by his country will show her heroic fidelity to her allies, to her past and to her future, and will end the unjust campaign.

"The premier is waiting at Brindisi for the diplomatic body which is due to arrive there today and with the members of which he will travel to Lyons."

The Geneva correspondent of The Temps says that, according to dispatches from Vienna, an active renewal of military operations has been undertaken by the Austrians in Montenegro. General Koevess' army is in movement, according to these advices, and one Austro-Hungarian division is advancing in the general Cetinje-Podgoritza direction, while another is moving south along the Adriatic coast toward Antivari. Other detachments of less strength are reported to be in Albania within 15 kilometres of Scutari.

MINOR OPERATIONS ON RUSSIAN FRONT.

Berlin, January 21.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—German troops have been engaged in only minor operations along the front in Russia, according to announcement by army headquarters today.

The statement reports merely the easy repulse of small Russian detachments between Pinsk and Czartorysk.

New York, January 21.—The Berlin official communication, received here by way of London, contains the following statements which were not embraced in the version received by wireless from Berlin:

"Berlin, January 21.—(Via London.) Western theater:

"There is nothing to report.

"Balkan theater: There is nothing to report."

BULGAR PORT BOMBARDED.

Sofia, January 21.—(Via London.)—An official statement today reads:

"An enemy squadron of twenty-four units appeared off Dedeaghatch at 8 o'clock on Tuesday and at 9:42 o'clock opened fire on the town and on the surrounding heights. The bombardment ceased at noon, when the attacking vessels steamed away. During the bombardment no lives were lost; four horses were killed.

"On the same day an enemy squadron of sixteen vessels cruised from 8 o'clock in the morning to 1 o'clock in the afternoon in the Bay of Porto Lagos. At 1:05 o'clock in the afternoon the vessels began a bombardment of the heights surrounding Porto Lagos. The attack ceased at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when the vessels steamed away in the direction of the Island of Thasos. We sustained no casualties."

RUSSIANS QUIET, AUSTRIANS CLAIM.

Berlin, January 21.—(By Wireless to Sayville.) — The Austro-Hungarian headquarters communication of today as received here says:

"Under the influence of their large losses of January 19 in the battles near Topprouts and Boyan, the Russians yesterday ceased their attack. On the remainder of the northeast front also there is a general calm.

"In addition to intermittent artillery duels a Russian aircraft division has dropped bombs on the district southeast of Brzezany. No damage was done.

"The Italians have directed their gunfire on Austro-Hungarian positions on the Tyrol and the slopes of Col di Lana. Likewise, they have heavily shelled some passes north of Peutelstein. On the remainder of the front the artillery has been normally active."

RUSSIANS TAKE PERSIAN TOWN.

Teheran, Persia, January 21.—(Via London.)—Russian columns operating in Persia have pushed to and occupied the town of Sultanabad, 150 miles southwest of Teheran, and about an equal distance northwest of Ispahan. The garrison and the German consul have fled to Bouroudjir, fifty miles west of Sultanabad.

ESSAD PASHA TO AID ALLIES.

London, January 21.—A wireless dispatch from Rome states that Essad Pasha, provisional president of Albania, has arrived at Scutari, with Albanian forces to join the Montenegrin troops retiring to that point. The dispatch says these measures are being taken with a view to defending Scutari.

It was reported from Paris last month that Essad Pasha had declared war on Austria and Bulgaria. He was said to have 20,000 armed men who would assist the allies.

ARTILLERY BUSY ON ITALIAN FRONT.

Rome, January 21.—(Via London.)—An official communication today reads:

"There have been artillery actions in the mountain regions in the Tofara zone. One of our detachments compelled enemy groups to retire after inflicting on them heavy losses.

"On the lower and middle Isonzo fog interferred with the operations yesterday, but it did not prevent active artillery firing directed especially toward hindering the reinforcement of hostile lines."

SUBMARINE SINKS AUSTRIAN CRAFT.

London, January 21.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rome says a British submarine has sunk in the upper Adriatic an Austrian hydroplane and also an Austrian torpedo boat which went to the rescue, taking the crews of both craft prisoner.

Widespread Interest Is Now Being Shown In Big Mass Meeting

Widespread interest is being taken in the mass meeting announced for the Jewish temple on South Pryor street for next Wednesday night, when an effort will be made to raise $25,000 for the American Jewish Relief association, to be used in relieving suffering among the Jewish people of Europe, who are now in great need.

ASSAILANTS OF BAILIFF ARE CONVICTED AT ROME

Rome, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—Calvin Saylor and Carl Shelton, two young men accused of robbery and assault with intent to murder, made upon T. A. Gilbert, of Dalton, a bailiff of Whitfield county, were tried in Floyd superior court yesterday. Shelton entered a plea of guilty to the charge of robbery, and was sentenced to twelve years in the state penitentiary. The case charging assault with attempt to murder against him was nolle prossed. Saylor denied his guilt, but was convicted and sentenced to a fifteen-year term.

ONE TERM AGREEMENT DENIED BY GOVERNOR

Harris Says There Is No Foundation for Report He Would Not Ask Re-election.

Governor Harris yesterday made a denial to a statement published in this week's issue of The North Georgia Citizen, of Dalton, to the effect that when he made his first race for governor that he "insisted that he wanted only one term," and that "there was a definite agreement whereby Judge Harris pledged himself to stay out of the race in 1916."

This statement of affairs, as outlined in The North Georgia Citizen, was attributed to Dr. L. C. Hardmen, who opposed Governor Harris in the 1914 race and is again opposing him in the present race.

The statement in The Citizen was as follows:

"Immediately following Dr. Hardman's entry, a row was precipitated. Dr. Hardman insists that when Judge Harris made his race for the governorship and insisted that he wanted only one term, there was a definite agreement made whereby Judge Harris pledged himself to stay out of the race in 1916."

Governor Harris' reply to the foregoing was:

"There was never any shadow of any such an agreement, and I have made no such pledge with Dr. Hardman or any of Dr. Hardman's friends. I have not made any agreement with anybody to stay out of the race in 1916.

"That is all based on the fact that there was a great deal said in the last campaign about this being 'the only chance to elect an old Confederate veteran governor of Georgia.' Nothing at all was said by me about not desiring an indorsement of my administration, by a second term, but all along it was plain, and I did say that after five years had passed there would be no opportunity to vote for a Confederate veteran, that they would all have crossed that bar of time and would then have become unable, through advanced age, to attend to the duties of the office of governor. I did say that, and I still say it."

Spring-Styled Suits at $19.50

$25.00 Values

Something out of the ordinary has happened; a New York suit maker's plans have gone awry!

Today, then, the sale—

Suits of Gabardines, of Serge, of Poplin, Suits of Serge-and-Taffeta Combined in styles that, perhaps, you are not familiar with as yet, but that you will know as you see the spring displays.

A gabardine suit—navy and black—has a coat of severe lines, belted across the front and sides; a flat collar of gabardine, with a smart little silk collar over that. The skirt is plain but for the pockets.

A wool poplin suit has wide revers, flat collar faced with silk, belted and showing a metal buckle in the back. The skirt is plain—in navy and black.

A silk-and-serge "combined" suit is almost all taffeta—serge-edged coat, serge-edged skirt, tailored lines, distinctive and smart—in navy and black.

A Trim New Suit at $16.95

That it is worth more will not be questioned, once a woman clasps eyes on it.

Just Arrived, Twenty-five $15 Coats, $7.95

A pick-up, let us call it—and such it will be for the woman who gets one.

Navy, black and brown, boucle and zibelines, full length, belted and plain loose backs, fur collars.

Small chance of them lasting long—it is not the history of such values. This morning, then, early for yours.

Miles Will Be Tried For Killing of Eady Wednesday Afternoon

The case against J. H. Miles, charged with shooting to death Anderson M. Eady last Saturday night, was transferred yesterday afternoon from the recorder's court to the municipal court, where it will be tried next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The case was transferred on a warrant taken out against Miles, and he was turned over to a deputy marshal by the recorder.

It was stated in court that the sister of Eady, who was an eye witness to the killing, was still ill in bed from nervous prostration.

Miles will plead self defense.

ATLANTA WILL BID FOR THE BUILDERS

Local Organization Will Ask 1917 Convention—Appropriation for Southeastern Fair Is Urged.

"Atlanta is going to get the 1917 convention of the national organization of builders' exchange" was the slogan adopted at the inaugural monthly dinner, held at the Ansley hotel yesterday, by the Atlanta Builders' exchange.

Dan Carey, secretary of the exchange, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau, are getting together a big delegation to go to the 1916 convention at Baltimore on February 19 for the purpose of securing the 1917 convention for this city.

The Builders' exchange also went on record as favoring the needed improvements for the Southeastern fair at Lakewood that this year's fair might be a success.

Use "Public Pressure."

Mell R. Wilkinson, formerly president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Victor H. Kriegshaber, who recently succeeded Mr. Wilkinson as president, were the principal speakers, and both favored a plan, suggested by members of the exchange, to "bring public pressure" to bear upon the finance committee of council and general council itself in order to secure the needed appropriation of $75,000 for the erection of another building on the Lakewood fair grounds.

Mr. Wilkinson said that certain officials of the Southeastern Fair association had become discouraged because of the attitude taken by certain members of council's finance committee toward the fair project.

When Mr. Wilkinson made this statement, he started the ball to rolling. Paul Wesley, President Charles William Bernhardt, of the exchange, and Dan Carey offered suggestions that met with everybody's approval. Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Kriegshaber both pledged their supoprt to carrying out the plan of the Builders' exchange—a city-wide plan that, if successful, will bring "public pressure" to bear upon the members of council, and force them to appropriate the necessary funds for the Lakewood project.

By this plan Mr. Wilkinson, who is head of the Presidents' club, which is composed of the heads of the various civic and commercial organizations of the city, will call a meeting at once and urge his club to adopt resolutions calling upon the members of their respective bodies to use their influence in council for the success of the fair. In turn, each president will call a mass meeting of the members of his particular organization. At these meetings petitions will be distributed among committees, who, in turn, will canvass Atlanta for signatures of voters favoring the development of a "great fair project" for Atlanta, and for the immediate appropriation by council of $75,000 for the erection of the new building necessary for this fall's fair. It is planned to present this petition to council and also have a large delegation of citizens on hand to urge council to abide by its request.

New Members for Exchange.

A number of new members joined the Builders' exchange at Friday's dinner. President Bernhardt announced that since Dan Carey was made secretary last June there had been an increase of sixty new members in the exchange, which is equal to about a 70 per cent increase. Mr. Wilkinson congratulated the exchange upon having so efficient a secretary.

Mr. Carey, in turn, announced that fourteen members of the exchange have already registered for the Baltimore annual convention and that a number of others would go with the Atlanta delegation to "pull for Atlanta as the convention city in 1917."

Fred Houser, secretary of the local convention bureau, just returned from an extended trip to other southern cities to get them to pledge their vote to Atlanta as the 1917 convention city, told the exchange of his experiences.

"New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis, Louisville, Chattanooga and every southern city except Nashville," said Mr. Houser, "pledged their support to Atlanta at the Baltimore convention. Of course, Nashville couldn't see anything for Atlanta, but I think she will have to come over to us."

Mr. Carey announced that the Atlanta delegation would leave Atlanta on Saturday afternoon, February 19, in a special Pullman via the Seaboard Air Line railroad. This road will send Fred Geissler to accompany the local delegation to Baltimore and he will register at the Emerson hotel with the delegation, and be an Atlanta "booster."

The convention proper begins on Tuesday, February 22, and lasts through Thursday. A meeting of secretaries is scheduled for Monday, the day preceding the convention, which Secretary Carey must attend. As a compliment to their secretary and in order to get on the scene ahead of time, the delegation will accompany Mr. Carey, leaving on Saturday afternoon. Many of the delegates will carry with them their wives and families.

NORMAN HAPGOOD WILL SPEAK HERE

Accepts Invitation to Deliver Address at Meeting of Retail Merchants' Association Next Week.

Three hundred merchants of Atlanta are expected to gather at the Piedmont hotel Wednesday night to hear Norman Hapgood, nationally famous as an editor, a writer and a foe of misleading advertising. Mr. Hapgood has accepted an invitation to deliver an address to the merchants in a message to Colonel Fred J. Paxon, the president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, whose guest he will be at dinner Wednesday evening.

The merchants of this city feel that they have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Hapgood as a speaker at one of their meetings, and an attractive program is being arranged for his entertainment during the time that he is in Atlanta. An elaborate dinner will be served, and Mr. Hapgood will discuss a number of matters in which the merchants are interested, emphasizing his views of advertising.

As editor of Collier's Weekly for a number of years, Mr. Hapgood met with a great deal of success and waged a fight for clean advertising which was watched with interest throughout the country. After the severance of his connection with Collier, he became the editor of Harper's Weekly, in which his articles have appeared for the past few years and in which they have been widely read.

The visiting editor will arrive Wednesday and will be met at the Terminal station by a number of the members of the local organization of merchants. On the following day he will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given at the Capital City club by Colonel Paxon. He will leave Thursday afternoon, returning to New York.

MRS. WILL HIERS' STORY OF KILLING IS DOUBTED

Henry Hiers Still Held as Suspect in Carden Murder Mystery.

Moultrie, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) The grand jury inquiring into the murder of E. M. Carden continued its investigation today and adjourned until Monday without having indicted any one for the offense. That the jury does not believe the confessions of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hiers, both of whom declared that the former fired the shot that killed the well-known farmer, now seems evident.

The dead man was held in high esteem by the people of his community, and witness after witness declared that there was no reason to believe the sensational story told by the young couple with reference to Carden's alleged mistreatment of Mrs. Hiers prior to her marriage. In her confession, Mrs. Hiers said that both her mother and brother, Tom Carden, knew of her father's alleged unnatural relations with her, but they both denied this.

The state is proceeding on the theory that Carden was shot by someone on the outside and that it would have been impossible for Will Hiers to have killed him without Tom Carden, who was in the house at the time, knowing it.

Henry Hiers is still held as a suspect in the case. It was with his gun that Will Hiers says that he shot Carden. He borrowed that weapon a number of days before the tragedy, he declares.

HOLD MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting will be held by the colored people of Atlanta Sunday, January 23, at 3 o'clock, in the Odd Fellows' auditorium on Auburn avenue. The principal addresses will be delivered by Henry S. Jackson and H. L. Johnson.

Jackson McHenry, chairman of the meeting, will preside. McHenry states that more than five thousand colored people will attend. Music will be furnished by the students of the Holmes institute and Bethel orchestra.

RUN OVER BY A TRAIN, J. C. CASEY IS DEAD

Run over by a freight train in the yards of the Atlanta Joint Terminals company, J. C. Casey, night foreman at the place, died at the Davis-Fischer sanitarium Thursday night. The injured man was found in the yards of the Joint Terminals, his right arm severed near the shoulder. He was rushed to the hospital, where he died Friday morning.

Casey resided at 297 Grant street. He is survived by his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Casey, two brothers, a sister and three children. The body was removed to Patterson's chapel.

How Casey received his injuries could not be learned by an investigation at the Terminals yards. There was no one near him at the time of the accident.

JERRY STOKES IS FREED BY THE COMMISSIONER

Evidence being offered that three of the witnesses who testified against him are under sentence for alleged violations of the United States liquor laws and other evidence produced lacked the strength necessary to hold him, the case against Jerry Stokes, charged with making and selling whisky, was dismissed yesterday in the court of United States Commissioner Colquitt Carter.

The young man is a native of DeKalb county, and was arrested during the early part of the week. The absence of witnesses summoned to appear in the case last Monday resulted in a continuance of the hearing until Friday.

EASY WAY TO HEAL COMMON SKIN-TROUBLES

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but well-tried and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage, if necessary, to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder. MYSTERY CLEARED UP, ASSERT DETECTIVES

Police Say Miss Cooper's Injuries Were Received When She Fell Against Dresser.

Atlanta's third mystery was cleared up Friday afternoon, according to the police, when detectives and investigators found that Miss Nettie E. Cooper, 69-year-old resident of 45 Western avenue, had fallen against a dresser and sustained injuries which caused her removal to the Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon and a rigid examination on the part of police.

When first taken to the city hospital Miss Cooper was suffering from a blow upon the head, which she claimed to have received while sitting in a chair in front of her fire last Saturday night.

She told investigators that she had been sitting in her bedroom reading when all at once she felt a terrific blow on the top of her head and knew no more for several minutes. The aged woman lived at the Western avenue house all alone, having been residing there for over forty years.

She sells some kind of salve preparation to the negro residents of that section, and is said to be greatly beloved by the negro residents around her.

Felt Blow on Head.

In telling her story to a Constitution reporter Friday afternoon, Miss Cooper stated that last Saturday afternoon she had been out peddling her salve and had gotten home just before dark.

"I went in the house," she stated, "and after feeding my cats, heaped a bucketful of coal on the fire and sat down to read the paper. I finished reading the paper and picked up a library book from the bed and had just started to read when I felt an awful blow on top of my head, and the next thing I knew I was lying on the floor over by the bureau.

"I got up and went over to the bed and lay down for several minutes until I could collect my senses. Then I went to the closet and found some cloth with which I bandaged my head.

"I have been living there in that house all alone for over forty years, and all the people there know me and know that I haven't anything, and that if there is anything I have which they want they could come and get it, because I could not fight them."

Police Investigate.

Detectives Cochran and Doyle went to the residence late Friday afternoon for an investigation. On the bed where she had laid down after being hurt there were blood stains and the pillow was saturated with blood. There was no blood whatever where the chair in front of the fireplace had been placed.

One corner of the bureau showed plainly that the woman's head had struck it. There were blood stains on the oak wood, and right below that a big splotch where the blood from the wound had flowed while the aged woman lay after being rendered unconscious.

S. M. Barnett, a nephew of Miss Cooper, stated to the officers that he had examined the room in which his aunt had been sitting. He also claimed that he was almost positive her injury had been received in the manner thought by detectives.

When asked if it was possible that she could have been injured by falling and striking her head, Miss Cooper stated that she did not know, although attending physicians stated that due to her advanced age and weakness it would have been possible for her to have fallen from vertigo or several other causes.

ATTACKED BY NEGROES, CATES IS BADLY HURT

Marion Cates, 31-year-old resident of 73 Boulevard terrace, is at the Grady hospital in a serious condition from injuries received when he was assailed by two negro highwaymen near the corner of Piedmont avenue and Houston street late Thursday night. Cates was found lying unconscious on the corner and sent to the Grady hospital, where he remained unconscious until early Friday.

He stated to attaches of the city institution after regaining consciousness that he had been on his way home the previous night, when two negroes passed him. One turned and grabbed his arm, and then hit him on the head with a brick. Cates stated at the hospital that he had no money and had no enemies.

INFLAMED ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

Spread All Over Nose and Mouth. Itched and Burned. Child Very Fretful. Badly Disfigured.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little girl had eczema on her face. The trouble first started on her upper lip by a small pimple breaking out just under her nose, and afterward it spread all over her nose and mouth and formed a black scale. Every time she would cry it would burst open and bleed. It itched and burned causing her to scratch and irritate her face. The trouble caused the child to be very fretful and restless at night, and she was badly disfigured.

"Then we used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using them for one month, the eruption all disappeared." (Signed) J. C. Houston, Evarts, Ky., July 14, 1915.

Minnie Celebrates And Birthday Party Faces the Recorder

Having reached the age of 36 years, and having spent most of that time in the stockade, Minnie Hicks gave a birthday party at her home, 72 Pratt street, Thursday evening.

She served beer and chitterlings as refreshments, and the twenty-one guests became so hilarious that they disturbed the patients in the Grady hospital.

The police dropped in as uninvited guests and rounded up the party and ran them in.

The twenty-one guests and the hostess were arraigned in police court Friday afternoon and fined $1.75 each.

"You fill a Darktown citizen up on beer and chitterlings," remarked the recorder, "and he is ready to fight a circular saw."

Louisville, Ky., January 21.—Pitchers Wylie Taylor and William E. Ellis, for two years past with the Louisville American association baseball club, have been sold for an unnamed price to Nashville, Tenn., in the Southern association, President A. O. Wathen, of the Louisville club, announced today. Both are right-handers. Taylor was secured from the St. Louis Americans, while Ellis was a Western league recruit.

Mental Anguish Damages Given Widowed Husband Fought by Express Co.

Washington, January 21.—Attorneys for the Southern Express company filed a brief in the supreme court today appealing from the judgment of the North Carolina state courts in awarding John Byers, of Hickory Grove, $250 damages for mental anguish arising from the failure of the company to deliver on time a coffin in which to bury his wife.

The coffin was shipped in interstate commerce and the attorneys contend that the interstate commerce laws do not provide recovery for mental anguish not connected with physical injury. They also contend that congress has not occupied the field of interstate commerce legislation, and that state legislation regarding recoveries for mental anguish suffered is no longer applicable to interstate shipments.

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and insistent ides of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

Located in the Heart of Things, only a golf stroke from the Pennsylvania Depot. On Broadway's throbbing centre. The Martinique is the logical New York home for those on business or pleasure bent.

UNITED STATES NEEDS SHIPS AND DYESTUFFS

Fuller Callaway Makes Speech Before House Ways and Means Committee.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, January 21.—(Special.) In his appearance before the house ways and means committee recently to urge legislation to build up a dyestuff industry in this country, Fuller E. Callaway, of LaGrange, made one of the breeziest speeches yet heard by the committee. Roars of laughter, which reverberated through the corridors of the house office building, greeted his pungent witticisms.

His text must have been the old rhyme:

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"to speak of many things,
Of ships, and guns, and sealing wax, of cabbages and kings."

Mr. Callaway discussed ships and strongly advocated an American merchant marine; he talked of cotton textiles from the standpoint of a Georgia cotton mill man; he confessed a willingness to be taxed to develop a needed industry which would produce dyestuffs; and he talked right out in meeting to the members of the powerful ways and means committee and reminded them that they were expected to look ahead and protect the people's interests.

Mr. Callaway's Statement.

His opening statement was:

"These other gentlemen come here begging for something. I come to tell you the fix we are in, and as we have got you all hired to fix it we ask you to do it and we put you on the defensive." He told them that the cotton textile industry was in a bad way because they couldn't get dyestuffs. German chemists, it seems, have developed that industry along with others until the rest of the world has depended upon Germany for its chemical dyes.

"I think we work more labor," continued Mr. Callaway, "than all the dyeing plants—manufacturing and jobbing dyeing plants—in the United States; more people are dependent upon our work for their labor. Unless we can get our goods dyed; that is, unless the people who buy them from us can get dyestuffs, it is going to handicap us and hinder us, instead of working overtime and full time and things like that, we will have to work short time, and it will be hard for us, especially right now, when it looks like probably this war occurred to give America the chance for America to move forward one hundred years in two or three years. I hate to miss a chance like that.

"We have not come here with any political ideas at all. This is simply a bread and meat idea. Our crowd, north and south, work probably several thousand people, and we support over a million people. If we start to running short, time and no time it will mean we will buy less cotton—and the greatest support of the cotton farmer today is our American mills. You have seen fit to allow somebody to stop our cotton going to Germany and Austria and other neutral ports, and the backbone of the present cotton market is my folks that are spinning and weaving cotton. If we don't get some relief, in addition to throwing our crowd on short rations, it will make the cotton farmer tired of holding his cotton.

Too Much Cross Firing.

"It looks like we cross fire too much. I am a born American. Personally I am a democrat because my father was (roars of laughter and applause greeted this statement), and because all the first-class folks in my country are. But I have a great many fine friends among republicans. I have a respect for congress as a whole, and I think we have the finest country in the world. But I dont' appreciate you folks sitting here while Rome burns."

In speaking of the expansion of American trade, Mr. Callaway said America was now shipping goods everywhere; that he himself was shipping to ports he had never formerly heard of, and was charging his customers 2 cents over the market.

"We ought to have some ships," exclaimed Mr. Callaway. "It is a living shame that we have not. If I was boss, I would call up Henry Ford and say, 'Henry, come here on a special train. This peace business is all rot. I will attend to that. But you are a splendid organizer. We want you to organize a ship-building company. We want you to have plans drawn for one of these 6,000 or 7,000 ton boats—a big bellied boat with little space for passengers and no luxuries—and we want you to standardize that boat like the Ford automobile is standardized. We want this plant constructed in forty-eight days, and begin to run out ships like sausages, so that we can cut them off with a pair of scissors. (The committee rocked with laughter.) Henry Ford would build them for one-fourth what it is costing to build them now. To the first customer who came along we would say, 'We will sell you these boats at cost, which is 25 cents on the dollar, and the rest on installments.' We would do this on the Ford plan, and they would put up 10 per cent cash and 5 per cent a year for the next ten years, and 3 per cent per annum on the different payments. But we will not do this in twenty-five years unless we change our present methods. By that time the war will be over. Germany will have recovered and be building up her trade again.

Two Biggest Things.

"This is a big thing, this shipping business. The shipping business and the dyestuff business are the two biggest things just now.

"If I were boss I would get Du Pont and Gary on the phone and say to them 'Get together and save all your waste products and put them into a by-products plant, to use up these toluols and picric acids and benzines and things like that you make powder out of now. Be reasonable and play fair. This munitions business will run out after awhile. I would not hire anybody that could not make a profit for themselves.

"John D. Rockefeller treated us mighty fine until they made him dissolve the Standard Oil company. Then he put up the price of oil and gasoline. These big fellows have done some good. They are big, strong men, and will do more if we are just smart enough to know how to handle them. My horse and dog do better when I treat them good than when I make them mad."

SENATOR DOBBS NAMED ON COBB COUNTY BOARD

Marietta, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) E. P. Dobbs, senator from the Atlanta district, was today elected a member of the Cobb county board of roads and revenues, vice Jesse N. Gantt, resigned. Mr. Dobbs has been mayor of Marietta for several terms, but declined to run in the recent election for that place. He was not an active candidate for commissioner, but was elected by friends on the grand jury by a large majority of the votes.

DR. ROBERT BOVILLE WILL BE HEARD HERE

The Atlanta Christian Endeavor union will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Westminster Presbyterian church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. An especially interesting program has been arranged. Dr. Robert G. Boville, national director of the Daily Vacation Bible school, will be present and deliver a stereopticon lecture. Many interesting views of the Daily Vacation Bible school, illustrating the needs and results of this work, will be shown.

DR. EPSTEIN IS HEARD BY A LARGE AUDIENCE

A large audience greeted Dr. B. Epstein at the Beth Israel congregation last night in the first of a series of lectures which he will deliver in the city. He spoke on "New Palestine and the Zionistic Idea." Dr. Epstein's next lecture will be given Sunday night at the Alliance hall. Pictures of Palestine will be shown. These meetings are open to the public.

JUDGE WILLIAM EVE IS CALLED BY DEATH AT HOME IN AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) Judge William F. Eve, one of the state's most distinguished and beloved jurists, died here at 1 o'clock today at the age of 65 years.

The funeral will take place Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

For the past thirty years Judge Eve had presided over the city court of Augusta, and for a number of years he had also been a member of the board county and had gained widespread fame county and has gained widespread fame as a road builder. He held the office of president of the Georgia highway commission.

Judge Eve graduated from the University of Virginia in the same class with the late Henry Grady. He entered public life early in the seventies, when he was appointed solicitor by Governor J. M. Smith.

A few years later he was named judge of the city court by the late Governor Colquitt, and he served in such a distinguished manner that every succeeding governor appointed him to succeed himself, until six years ago, when the office was made elective by the people.

This did not break his term of service, as the voters of Richmond county twice elected him to the position.

Judge Eve was a son of the late Dr. Joseph Eve and his grandfather was also a distinguished physician.

He was married to Miss Ida Evans, a daughter of the late General Clement A. Evans. Mrs. Eve and three children, Mrs. Allie Eve Cabaniss, wife of Henry E. Cabaniss, of Atlanta; Miss Sarah Evans Eve and William F. Eve, Jr., of Augusta, survive.

Judge Eve died in his handsome residence, which was the gift of the people of Augusta. Several years ago Judge Eve's residence burned, and the following day the people of Augusta raised in a few hours a fund with which they built a handsome residence and presented it to him as mark of appreciation for public service.

BUCHANAN IS INVITED TO SPEAK IN CHICAGO

Judge Ernest Buchanan, of the municipal court of Atlanta, DeKalb division, has been invited to address the Alexander Hamilton institute in Chicago on March 7.

JOHN T. KIRBY HEARD BY LOCAL MERCHANTS

National Retail Dry Goods Association Manager Will Return Soon.

All phases of merchandising were discussed yesterday by John T. Kirby, field manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, who was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Piedmont hotel by the directors of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association.

So favorably impressed with Mr. Kirby were the members of the board of directors of the local association of merchants that they extended to him an invitation to return to Atlanta at an early date to deliver an address before the entire membership of the organization. The invitation was accepted and it is expected that Mr. Kirby will be heard by the merchants of the city at an early meeting.

Mr. Kirby emphasized the value of ethical and systematic advertising at Friday's luncheon and discouraged the use of trading stamps and coupons with the declaration that the people must pay for them in the end and they take from a merchant's funds money which might be spent to better advantage in other forms of advertising.

The speaker urged that the merchants use their influence against the Stevens bill, which probably will be acted upon at the present session of congress. It would allow a manufacturer to set a price on his products and to demand that the retail merchant sell them at a figure not below the sum fixed by the maker. Many merchants throughout the country have protested against the proposed enactment, and Mr. Kirby believes that they have just ground for complaint.

The necessity for the adoption of modern methods in keeping delivery costs at a minimum and reducing overhead charges was given attention by the speaker and other matters in which the merchants are interested were treated in a manner that showed the effects of a careful study of and a thorough familiarity with the subject.

Several local dry goods firms joined the national organization Friday, although no reference was made to the work of that body in Mr. Kirby's address.

Vancouver, B. C., January 21.—Fifty-three Americans, recruited for the Ninety-seventh Canadian regiment, which is to be composed entirely of citizens of the United States and known as the American legion, entrained for Toronto today.

LOVING CUP IS GIVEN GOVERNOR BY STAFF

"Feeling Fine on My Seventieth Birthday," Executive Tells Newspaper Men.

Members of the staff of Governor Nat E. Harris, forming his military aide, took him by suprise last night when they appeared in full dress uniform at the executive mansion to wish him "many happy returns" and to present upon the occasion of his seventieth birthday a handsome silver water pitcher.

The receptacle bore the monogram of the governor, handsomely designed and skillfully executed, together with an appropriate inscription. Colonel G. M. Hope was the first member of the staff to congratulate the governor and he added that Colonel J. W. Murrell would make some remarks.

Murrell Makes Address.

In a fitting address Colonel Murrell made the speech of presentation and Governor Harris, taken altogether by surprise, responded with feeling, expressing his appreciation of the thoughtfulness of the members of the staff and welcoming them to the mansion.

Those who formed the party met at the Majestic hotel and went in a body from that place to the home of the chief executive. They were: Colonel G. M. Hope, Colonel J. W. Murrell, Colonel W. S. Coburn, Colonel W. M. Camp and Colonel Claude Smith, of Atlanta; Colonel Fred Morris, of Marietta; Colonel O. R. Horton, of Milledgeville, and Colonel F. R. Jones, of Macon.

The governor was being congratulated all day long. A large number of friends called upon him in person at the statehouse to express to him their congratulations and from all parts of the state messages of felicitation were received.

Governor Feeling Fine.

Governor Harris enjoyed the day to the fullest.

"I have been feeling fine today," he told the newspapermen. "Never felt better in my life. Here I am threescore and ten, and, I declare, I don't feel a day over forty-five years old. It was just two or three weeks ago I took a thorough examination and my physician tells me I am as sound and healthy as I can be—I feel it, too. The doctor said my blood pressure was fine and my lungs were in great shape, and that I was all right in every way. I tell you, it makes a man feel pretty good to be in that condition on his seventieth birthday.

"I guess the reason I am so healthy is that in all my seventy years I never smoked a cigar, took a chew of tobacco or swallowed a drink of whisky."

Leap Year Ball Will Be Given At the Driving Club on Friday

There will be a leap year ball given at the Piedmont Driving club Friday evening January 28. The ball will begin promptly at 9 o'clock and the first ten men to arrive on time will have the privilege of drawing for a handsome prize. The ladies will invite their escorts. They will have charge of every detail of the entertainment. There will be two figures of the German danced before 11 o'clock when supper will be served. After supper there will be general dancing.

Promoters of the ball are a group of the prominent married women, wives of club members. The debutantes will combine with the matrons in giving the ball and at a meeting of the general committee Friday Miss Isolene Campbell was appointed floor manager with the privilege of appointing a committee of assistants. As the ball is given by lady members of the club and not an official club functions, ladies are privileged to invite any gentleman they choose, whether or not they are members of the club.

The number of guests the ballroom will accommodate is limited, therefore all reservations must be made by next Wednesday. Each lady pays $5 for a ticket, which admits her and her escort.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. Richard Courts will entertain at bridge this afternoon, her guests to be:

Mesdames Lee Ashcraft, Russell Porter, R. W. Hunt, E. D. Kennedy, W. E. Foster, Guy Woolford, J. B. McCrary, Robert Rambo, Russell Bridges, Arthur T. Smart, Fitzhugh Knox, H. C. Bagley, Henry White, Irving Thomas, Carl New of Baltimore, Guy Ayer, Joseph Regenstein, G. L. Crandall, Lloyd Parks, Howard Cornelius, John Ellis, Louise Spalding Foster, Robert Burgess, Frank O. Headley, Charles Rice, Miss Mary Rice, Miss Riggs of Chattanooga, Miss Marquess Ritch, Miss Dorothy Perry of Kentucky.

Blue Bird Luncheon.

Twenty-four young women were the guests of Miss Sally Eugenia Brown yesterday at luncheon, the entertainment an elaborate and beautiful one in compliment to Miss Cora McCord Brown, of Marietta, who is her guest for a few weks, and to Miss Agnes Gray.

The table decoration was in January jessamine from Miss Brown's garden, and in blue birds and butterflies.

Down the length of the table were four graceful vases of the yellow bloom, with gay-tinted butterflies poised among them. Perched on the edges of low bowls of the jessamine were many blue birds, and the place cards were blue bird pictures.

For Visitors.

Miss Mary Murphey entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at Druid Hills Golf club in compliment to Miss Anne Kilby, of Anniston, the guest of Miss Louise Broyles, and for Miss Bessie Gunn, of Hartford, Conn., the guest of Miss Lucile Kuhrt.

The party included Miss Kilby, Miss Gunn, Miss Kuhrt, Miss Broyles, Miss Josephine Mobley and Miss Margaret Fraser.

Birthday Party.

A happy occasion of yesterday afternoon was the birthday party given by little Misses Sarah Barte Kellogg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Kellogg, and Leila Venable Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tucker Mason, at Stonehenge, the home of their uncle, Mr. Samuel Venable, in Druid Hills, in celebration of their seventh birthdays. A number of interesting games were played and a pretty feature of the afternoon was the Maypole dance held in the hall.

In the center of the birthday table in the dining room was a miniature lake, the banks outlined with moss and lighted with pink shaded electric lights. Floating on the lake were ducks and little boats of ivory filled with Japanese sailors. Low baskets filled with pink carnations and narcissi were at the ends of the pretty table and spun candy balls, the cakes and other decorative details were pink.

The little guests were: Misses Mary Goddard, Sarah Ellis Estes, Frances McKenzie, Mary Matthewson, Palmer Dallis, Jane Carleton, Elizabeth Hoyt, Julia Meador, Palmer Atkinson, Susan Broyles, Anne Wylie Moore, Catherine Harris, Adelaide Tuller, Elizabeth Tuller, Nan Payne Peeples, Bettie Davison, Frances Latimer, Frances Waddell, Ruth Key, Eleanor Maud, Margaret Brawner, Sarah Tilt, Frances Connolly Spalding, Frances Underwood, Marian Cobb Bryan, Catherine Norcross, Margaret Dorsey, Jacqueline Moore, Adair McCarley, Sarah Adair, Mary Hall Tupper, Joan Clarke, Jane Zuber, Lillian Ward Smith, Clarabel King, Elizabeth Flynn, Alline Fraser, Nell Baker Strong, Thelma Tucker.

Tea-Dance at Druid Hills Golf Club.

The tea-dance will be an event of this afternoon at Druids Hills Golf club from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Afternoon Bridge Party.

Mrs. Richard Courts will entertain thirty guests at bridge this afternoon at her home on Peachtree street.

For Mrs. Burke.

Mrs. William M. Burke, a recent bride, was the guest of honor at a bridge party yesterday afternoon, given by Mrs. George Curry, Jr., and Mrs. Frances Jones, at the home of Mrs. Curry on West Peachtree street.

Pink carnations and narcissi attractively decorated the rooms where the game was played and a silver basket of the same flowers was the centerpiece of the daintily appointed tea table in the dining room. The prizes were crepe de chine handkerchiefs. Sixteen guests were invited for bridge and were joined by a few other friends for tea.

Dinner-Dance at Driving Club.

The dinner-dance this evening at the Driving club will be a bright ending of the week socially.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McKenzie will entertain for Mrs. Stewart H. Jones, of New York. Others having parties will be Mr. and Mrs. Gus T. Dodd, Mr. W. E. McBurney, Miss Isabel Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Roby Robinson, Mr. Kenneth McRae.

At East Lake.

The week-end entertainment at the East Lake Country club will include the regular dinner-dance tonight from 7:30 to 12:45, and orchestra music on Sunday evening.

Benefit Dance.

At West End Dancing academy, corner Lee and Gordon streets, Wednesday evening, January 26, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Masseling; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dealy; Mr. and Mrs. A. Steiner; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young, chaperons. Admission, 25 cents.

To Miss McEvoy.

Miss Anne McEvoy, of Baltimore, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Brutus Clay, and a series of parties will be given in her honor.

On Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Clay will entertain at dinner, with a theater party afterwards at the Forsyth.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Jack J. Spalding will entertain at the tea-dance at the Driving club.

Mrs. William H. Schroeder will give a party, and others will entertain.

To Mrs. Giddings.

Mrs. John S. Clark entertained informally at bridge yesterday in compliment to Mrs. Giddings, of Appleton, Wis., the guest of Mrs. J. W. Pearse, the occasion an enjoyable one of three tables.

After the game refreshments were served in the dining room, the tea table artistic in pink and white. The centerpiece was a silver basket of pink carnations and narcissi.

To Debutantes.

A beautiful entertainment last night was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black in compliment to two pretty debutantes, Miss Dorothy Arkwright and Miss Harriet McDaniel.

Twenty-five of the unmarried set were assembled to meet them, and they were seated for dinner at small tables in the dining room and adjoining apartments.

Each table had for its central decoration a silver basket of roses and narcissi, and roses in their different colors were used with palms throughout the house.

An orchestra provided bright music and after dinner there was dancing.

Mrs. Black wore a handsome toilette in pink silk combined with chiffon and silver. Miss McDaniel wore a becoming gown of yellow pompadour taffeta. Miss Arkwright wore a dainty dancing costume of pink tulle and silver.

To Miss Hester Hill.

Miss Elizabeth Hines will give a small bridge Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Miss Hester Hill, of Anderson, Ind., who arrives Monday to be her guest.

Miss Helen Pryor will entertain at bridge Thursday in honor of Miss Hill, and other affairs are planned, Miss Hill having many friends here since her former visits who will cordially welcome her return.

Evening Musical.

A delightful occasion last night was the musical given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Bates in compliment to their guest, Miss Ella Bates, of Washington, D. C., at their home on East Fourth street.

A group of artists assisted the hosts in entertaining—Mr. Solon Drukemmiller and Mrs. Peyton H. Todd, who sang, and Mr. W. P. Stanley, pianist.

An impromptu program was followed by dainty refreshments.

To Mrs. Tidwell.

In compliment to Mrs. W. D. Tidwell, of Denver, Colo., who is spending a short time in Atlanta, her former home, a series of informal parties are being given.

This afternoon Mrs. Arthur Montgomery will entertain at tea at the Driving club.

Mrs. Tidwell will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dykes at dinner tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farley will entertain at dinner Monday evening, and other affairs are planned.

KIMBROUGH-HOSCH.

Gainesville, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Kimbrought and Mr. Lester Hosch, an interesting event of this month, will be solemnized January 27 at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock. Dr. S. R. Belk, assisted by Dr. T. R. Kendall, will perform the ceremony.

After the entertainment a reception will be held.

Prominent Club Women.

Madison, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) On January 28, Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Harvie Jordan and Mrs. S. B. Yow, three of the most distinguished club women of the state, will visit Madison and on that date will be entertained by Mrs. Joseph Vason. The occasion promises to be the most brilliant social feature of the season in Madison.

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Blanche Jefferson, 708 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice—it will be confidential.

TWELVE YEARS OF FAILING HEALTH

Brought to Happy End. Says the People in Three Counties Know What Cardui Did For Her.

Weaverville, N. C.—Mrs. Abbagail Hampton, of this place, says that about 12 years ago she began to take Cardui after having been in failing health for 12 years, during which time she had to take to her bed four days out of each month, and suffered agony; that the doctors told her she must have female trouble and gave her medicine which did her no good and finally insisted on her going to the hospital for treatment.

She goes on to say: "I am a large woman, and my ordinary weight, 160 pounds, went down to 135. I got so bad I just dragged around and could scarcely sit up. . . . My neighbors all thought I was going to die and would say I couldn't live long. My little daughter thought the same. . . .

My husband and friends urged me to try Cardui, and he bought me some of it. I began feeling better as soon as I began taking it, and I steadily improved until I was well and strong. I make my garden, do my housework and have cooked for 20 boarders at one time. Am a strong, healthy woman, permanently cured by Cardui. My husband and I can't say enough for Cardui. . . . The people in three counties know what this medicine has done for me, for neither I nor my husband ever cease praising it."

Cardui is for sale at all druggists with full directions for use. Try it.

Whooping Cough and Croup Effectively Relieved by Pine-Tar-Honey

The loosening of the phlegm results in easier breathing. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is quick in its relief.

There are certain children's diseases which demand quick action. Every careful mother will see to it that the ailments of youth are guarded against by the possession of helpful remedies.

When midnight comes and your child arouses you to its suffering; if it is gasping for breath and strangling, it needs a quick and harmless remedy to loosen the phlegm and ease the throat. "Pine-Tar" loosens the mucous and acts as an antiseptic while honey eases the throat and again permits free and natural breathing.

Numerous testimonials vouch for the immediate and permanent relief obtained, and insist that it be kept in the home for all cold troubles. 25c

SOCIETY

Hester-Webster.

Dr. and Mrs. John Grant Wilkins announce the approaching marriage of their sister, Miss Corinne Hester, formerly of Albany, to Mr. Joseph Erickson Webster, to take place Monday, January 24, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wilkins on North Boulevard.

Miss Hester is the youngest daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. John Temple Hester, of Albany, completed her education at Brenau, and has many friends throughout the state.

Mr. Webster is the eldest son of the late Winfield Scott Webster and Mrs. Dora Kiser Webster, of Norcross, and Columbus. He is a graduate of Auburn and is connected with the Southern Bell Telephone company.

Only relatives and a few close friends have been invited to witness the ceremony. Among the out-of-town guests will be Lieutenant John Hester, U. S. A., and Mrs. Hester, who have returned from the Philippine Islands.

Ladies' Day at Auditorium.

Sunday will be ladies' day at the Auditorium. The afternoon program has been put in charge of a number of Atlanta women, and will consist of selections by the city's leading musicians. Among those who are to take part in the program are Miss Eda Bartholomew, Miss Grace Brown Townsend, Miss Annie May Bell Carrol, Misses Hazel and Mabel Whitney, the little Misses Brown, Miss Lou Buchanan and Miss Marguerite Bartholomew.

The special guests of the afternoon will be the mayor, city council, county commissioners, chamber of commerce, city federation of clubs and all other patriotic organizations.

Thirty of the most prominent girls of Atlanta will act as ushers.

NEW ORLEANS PHONE MEN GIVEN BUTTONS

Colonel W. T. Gentry, president of the Southern Bell Telephone company, has returned from New Orleans, where he delivered an address to more than 500 employees of the Cumberland Telephone company.

The occasion was the distribution of service record buttons to employees who have served the Bell system more than five years. Badges were presented to 280 employees by Mr. Gentry and in his address he expressed the company's appreciation of their loyalty and devotion.

Mr. Gentry states that all evidences of the destructive gulf storms have been removed and New Orleans is sharing in the prosperity which the south is experiencing.

PLAN TO CONVERT 1,000 AT REVIVAL IN MACON

Number Already Reaches 800. Meetings to End Sunday Night.

Macon, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—The union revival meeting which has been in progress at the city auditorium since January 2 will come to a close Sunday night, and the workers are now centering their efforts on increasing the number of converts for the three weeks to 1,000. Up to this evening the number totaled 800.

No revival meeting ever held in Macon has stirred the religious life of the city as has this meeting conducted by Gypsy Smith, Jr., son of the famous English evangelist of that name. Mr. Smith is a powerful speaker, and a crowded house has greeted him at every service. On no day since his meeting began has less than 2,000 people heard him, and on some days the number has run as high as 5,000.

One unusual feature is that for the past two weks no collections have been taken. At the opening of the meeting $1,000 was raised to defray the actual expenses. Gypsy Smith came without a guarantee, and all he will receive will be the collections to be taken for his benefit at the three meetings to be held Sunday.

Colonel Huff Converted.

Macon, Ga., January 21.—(Special.)—One of the converts at the Gypsy Smith revival meeting last night was Colonel W. A. Huff, Macon's 33-year-old ex-mayor. Colonel Huff has been in attendance on the meetings regularly and all along has been impressed with the logic advanced by Mr. Smith. Last night he left his seat in the rear of the auditorium, walked slowly down the aisle, took the evangelist's hand and asked for his prayers. His conversion was one of the most impressive features of the entire meeting.

Colonel Huff was one of the central figures in the impeachment proceedings against Judge Emory Speer and has always been prominent in the political life of Macon. He is at present a member of the board of water commissioners.

FEDERAL PRISONERS WILL HEAR ADDRESS BY A. W. CRAWFORD

Brigadier A. W. Crawford, of the Salvation Army, will address the Brighter Day league and other inmates of the federal prison at 9:30 Sunday morning. An interesting musical program has been arranged, including songs by Mrs. Crawford and by the prison chorus.

The Brighter Day league at the federal prison has been doing splendid work since its establishment three years ago by Major Horace Dodd. It is now in charge of Major W. A. French and aims to help released prisoners get started in life anew. It secures good positions for them and does everything to give the paroled men a fair chance.

The league was founded ten years ago by Colonel Thomas Holland at Napannock prison in New York state. It has its own publication, "The Brighter Day," which is furnished to prisoners every month. The requirements for joining are that members shall read their Bibles, pray, abstain from the use of profanity and intoxicants and follow the rules of the prison.

At present there are one hundred members in the local chapter, about ten per cent of the inmates of the prison.

Major W. A. French is in charge of the local prison work of the Salvation Army, and he states that the prison officials are extremely courteous and show many kindnesses and render every aid possible to the work. Major French has had a wide experience in this field both here and in New York state.

J. B. Babb Died Friday; Funeral Takes Place Sunday Afternoon

J. B. Babb, aged 41, died at the residence, 899 Gordon street, Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Babb was a prominent insurance man, having for some years been connected with the Industrial Life and Health Insurance company, in the Empire building.

He is survived by a widow, three sons, Frank, Albert and J. B. Babb, Jr., and three daughters, Margaret, Ruth and Virginia Babb.

Mr. Babb was a member of Battle Hill lodge No. 523, F. & A. M.

The funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. L. Collins, pastor of the Calvary church. Interment in West View will be in charge of the Masons.

BIG SALE STARTS AT STEWART'S TODAY

A Shoe Sale of Unusual Interest to Everyone Is Announced.

The Fred S. Stewart Shoe company announces in The Constitution today a big cut price shoe sale commencing this morning.

This will be one of the most interesting trade events of the season and will attract attention from far and near.

Everyone will be interested in this sale. Men, Women and Children and hundreds are sure to avail themselves of this most extraordinary opportunity to purchase high-class shoes at greatly reduced prices, in the face of a positive increase in the cost of footwear on account of the steady advance in the price of leather.

Be sure to arrange to attend this sale at your earliest opportunity. Come and see for yourself the astonishing values offered and remember this, you will be waited upon promptly and courteously.

All of our friends and customers fully appreciate the high grade footwear which we sell—many of the styles being exclusive as well.

This mid-winter sale is opportune and means a big saving to all who are economically disposed, whether they actually need new footwear or not just at this time.

SOUTHERN TRUST COMPANY'S CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the bankruptcy division of the United States court yesterday against the Southern Trust company, in which it is asked that a receiver be named to assume charge of the affairs of the concern. Monday was set as the day for the hearing before Judge W. T. Newman.

It is charged in the petition that the company committed an act in bankruptcy in that a receiver has been named in the state court. Those who filed the petition and the amounts of their alleged claims are Bennett Printing company, $13.40; R. Roberts, $124.65; Mrs. V. O. Conyers, $629.

In the superior court Friday, Judge W. D. Ellis designated the Atlanta Trust company as permanent receiver for the Southern Trust company. Bond in the sum of $10,000 was named of the receiver trust company.

RAIN WILL CONTINUE, STATES WEATHER MAN

Rain will continue today, according to last night's weather report.

Friday was a bleak, drizzly day, with seldom a ray of sunshine, and frequent drizzles that seeped through the clothes and made any shelter welcome.

Unsettled weather prevails throughout nearly the entire country. The heavy rains reported are spread over extensive areas.

Temperatures are quite high in the south and east, reaching a degree of fifty in Atlanta at 7 o'clock Friday morning.

"SPIRIT OF THE AGE" IS PASTOR'S THEME

Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of North Avenue Presbyterian church, will deliver Sunday night at 8 o'clock the third sermon of his series on "Relationships of a Christian," his subject this week being "The Relationship of a Christian to the Spirit of the Age." A special program will be rendered by the choir at the evening service. Sunday morning an intallation of elders will take place, this being the first ceremony of its kind that the North Avenue church has held in nearly a decade.

MINISTERS TO SPEAK ON LAYMAN CONVENTION

Appeal for Registration of Men Will Be Made From Pulpits of Every Denomination.

In churches all over Atlanta the purpose of the Layman's Missionary movement will be presented Sunday morning and the plans of the February convention in this city will be outlined, unity of action having been promised by ministers of practically every denomination in presenting the appeal in their various churches on Sunday morning.

Many of the ministers will not only make the announcement of the convention and urge registration of the men of the church, but will preach sermons on missionary topics and thus set forth the plans and purposes behind the nation-wide movement that is bringing the convention to Atlanta from February 2 to 6.

Dr. C. O. Jones, in speaking Sunday morning at Trinity church, on the theme, "Some Small Duties of Religion," will speak of the Laymen's Missionary movement and the opportunity for service that it is opening to the laymen of the churches. Dr. W. R. Hendrix, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, will deliver a special missionary sermon on the subject, "The Universality of the Christian Religion."

Among other ministers who have signified their intention of speaking on the question of the missionary movement Sunday are Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist; Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of North Avenue Presbyterian; and Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, pastor of the English Lutheran church. Many others have agreed to make the announcement of the convention from their pulpits this week and to deliver special missionary sermons the following Sunday. In addition to the pulpit announcements, the members of the registration committee will be at work in all the churches, and it is expected that a large number of registrations will be secured this Sunday.

TELLS OF THE PART PLAYED BY FRANCE IN BIG EXPOSITION

About 300 people yesterday heard General Secretary Delamarre, of the French Alliance International, when he appeared at the Ansley hotel under the auspices of the local branch of the organization.

In a lecture which was illustrated with stereopticon views, Dr. Delamarre told of the part which France played in the San Francisco exposition. He showed a number of the views of the French building and emphasized the fact that the structure was erected with a view to artistic beauty rather than commercial exploitation.

This idea was carried out throughout the French building, Dr. Delamarre explained, and he declared that the nation was glad of an opportunity to participate in the wonderful exposition.

Friday morning the visiting official of the alliance was heard by the students of the Girls' High school, speaking for a careful study of the French language. He dealt with the many works of French which are enjoyed most thoroughly through an understanding of the language, and he declared that the young people of today should give special attention to the study of this language.

Dr. Delamarre has decided not to leave Atlanta until Sunday, although his original plans called for his departure from this city Saturday.

COFFEE COUNTY BUSY MAKING FINE ROADS

Douglas, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) Coffee county is steadily forging its way to the front in the matter of first-class roads. The county road forces are shortening the road to Broxton, nine miles distant, one and a half miles, and when the work is finished this stretch of road, for smoothness and hardness, will be second to none in the state.

Holds Quarterly Conference.

Rev. J. A. Hadley, presiding elder of the Atlanta district of the African Methodist Episcopal church, held his first quarterly conference at Big Bethel A. M. E. church Friday night. Dr. Hadley in addressing the audience said the members of the church had done a good work in extending Christianity among the colored people of the city.

Rev. F. H. Simms, the pastor, made his report, which showed that he had done a good year's work. Rev. Hadley will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. two special sermons.

FIRST AID TO IMMIGRANTS.

Opportunity for preparedness in the duties and obligations of citizenship is now offered the newly-arrived immigrant who is made to feel that when he has acquired the rights and privileges conferred by that citizenship, his interests are one with those of the country of his adoption.

The Review of Reviews tells of the work of the Los Angeles schools in the education of the immigrant through "a special course, given in a public high school, in which the newcomer is drilled thoroughly in the essentials of citizenship."

It is but the duty of the country to the applicant for the honor of citizenship to make the course before him as clear as possible. Formerly there was little or no ceremony in the granting of naturalization papers, but it is different now, when the applicant is prepared in advance of his application, and it is made the occasion of a certain impressive solemnity in addition to the earnest instruction he has received. Of the Los Angeles method, The Review of Reviews says:

> Following the admission of a class to citizenship an open meeting is held in the auditorium, an address of welcome is made by a prominent citizen, and an adaptation of a patriotic hymn which is made to apply particularly to the newcomers is sung. An international festival was held last year at which the work of various nations in contributing to American ideals was graphically represented. On each day of the festival exhibits were displayed showing what is being done for the immigrant through state, municipal and private organizations. A feature of the festival was a citizenship banquet to which the old citizens each brought a new citizen as a guest.

There is no discounting such work as that as first aid in the making of the citizen of the future. He knows what is expected of him; he feels that others are interested in his welfare; he is made to feel "at home," and he has a better chance to become a home-builder.

RELIGIOUS PREPAREDNESS.

Religious preparedness is keeping pace with the times.

The need of a revival along that line was felt by ministers and members of several little churches in Pittsburg, Pa., but no church building was deemed large enough to accommodate the crowds they wished to attract. So it was proposed that they erect a suitable tabernacle.

They didn't waste time in wordy discussion of their limited finances, and how the work was to be accomplished; they went to work at once—pastors and laymen threw their coats aside, rolled up their shirt-sleeves, and, "in zero weather," as The Pittsburg Gazette-Times tells it, "put their hands and shoulders to the work" of erecting the building they desired:

> The spectacle of ten or a dozen ministers toiling in overalls and jumpers is in itself a sight worth going miles to see and guarantees that the undertaking will be well advertised from its inception. Then, too, the men who are taking hold of the task of erecting the building with such energy may be relied upon to see to it afterward that their work was not done in vain.

This is what our Pittsburg contemporary calls an exhibition of the spirit of "the old-time religion"—the "shirt-sleeve" kind, where faith goes hand-in-hand with hardest work which is "likely to result in bruised fingers and aching backs," but as a sample of the spirit of self-sacrificing, loyal religious preparedness, it is unique.

BANISHMENT OF HATE.

If European nations, now deadlocked in war's death struggle, succeed in banishing hate, at least from the minds and hearts of the generation now coming on to take the place of that more than doubly decimated in the trenches, they will have achieved a victory far greater than that which any of them can gain at cannon's mouth or bayonet point.

That the importance of eradicating this sentiment is felt, at least in some of the war-ridden nations, is interestingly evidenced in the following memorandum which has been sent, through the educational department, to every school teacher in Hungary:

> The royal Hungarian minister for education requests all teachers to pay special attention in the coming term to the respect and honor due to our enemies; that no hatred or contempt should enter the minds of the children against the brave men with whom their fathers are in deadly combat, and that hate or contempt is not to be cultivated in the youthful minds.

One immediate effect of this appeal and injunction to school teachers will be the softening of world opinion toward Teutonic purpose, at least so far as Hungary is concerned. It will make friends for that government as no other action growing out of war conditions could possibly have done.

But, more than that, the sentiment is typical of a modified feeling on the part of the combatants. Germany has professed to hold hatred only for England. Even that appears, latterly, to have softened. It remains a war of energetic, determined purpose, but every day brings growing evidence that when peace is once declared it will be upon a basis that will bring back the old friendships with a cessation of blood-spilling.

Whether the governments themselves have come to it or not, the men on the firing line have often done so, as is evidenced in many a story of a friendly truce, sympathetic assistance to the wounded and decoration of the graves of the enemy dead. When the fighting is over these are the men whose opinions and sentiments will largely control in framing those of their home governments.

THE WINNING OFFENSIVE.

There has naturally been just home-criticism of the errors of the allied forces in their eastern operations, and in this connection The Indianapolis News quotes the comment of The London Everyman, as follows:

> London Everyman gives an interesting criticism of the operations of the entente allies in Macedonia and incidentally refers to Demosthenes, who, in his first Philippic 2,300 years ago, reproved the Greek allies because they were always waiting for the enemy to make the first move and to decide the strategy of the war. Everyman is of the opinion that the reproof of Demosthenes is strangely applicable to the activities of the entente allies in the present war; that they have allowed the Teutonic powers to take the offensive and that they, the entente allies, have generally been content to remain on the defensive. It is insisted that the Teutonic strategists have continually emphasized the advantage that a vigorous offensive confers and have profited by it.

The Kaiser has the quick methods of the First Napoleon, and he puts them to practice with the same lightning-like rapidity. His motto is: "Find the enemy, test his mettle, then stay with him to the last."

In the current issue of Collier's, Frederick Palmer discusses England's method—or lack of it—and says she has always blundered in her wars, but that with slight exception "the last battle has been hers."

This is her confident hope now; as at every step she pays the fearful price of the uncertain journey to that near or far event.

A LIVE-AT-HOME YEAR.

Texas is another state to start the New Year on the live-at-home plan, and The Houston Post speaks encouragingly of the campaign to "Let Texas Feed Herself."

It is pointed out that something like $300,000,000 a year has been leaving Texas for food and forage, and that this sum might easily be added to the working capital at home. Our Houston contemporary says of what has already been accomplished by a diversity of crops:

> Of course, conditions are improving. There is not so much of that sort of thing as formerly, because the bankers and merchants are taking a greater interest in agriculture than heretofore, and the one-crop idea is passing away.
> We need no better proof of the feasibility of the "Let Texas Feed Herself" campaign than the circumstance that we have right here in Texas thousands of farmers who do live at home and live well, and they are men who have their farms paid for and money in the bank at all times.

The live-at-home plan was given a fair trial in Arkansas during the past year and the farmers of that state, with results to show for the wisdom of diversified farming, are also enlisted for the live-at-home plan this year.

What North Carolina accomplished during the past year on the same plan is told in a review of the year's work in The University (N. C.) News Letter:

> We have raised this year not less, but more, cotton and tobacco than we raised six years ago; but at the same time we have nearly doubled our corn and hay crops, more than doubled our yield of rye, and nearly trebled our yield of wheat and oats during this interval. We have also raised more rice, buckwheat and potatoes. We have wheat and hay enough for home consumption, and we are approaching sufficiency in our corn and potato crops. We will this year hold down in North Carolina a large part of the $119,000,000 that went out of the state in 1910 to swell the bank accounts of the bread-and-meat farmers of the middle west.

Georgia farmers cannot afford to lag behind in this campaign, and there is accumulating evidence that they will not. Diversified farming proved profitable in every instance where it was put to the test. Its Texas record of "thousands of farmers with farms paid for and money in bank at all times" can and will be duplicated in Georgia.

"I was with Ford," the stranger said;
Quoth the listener: "Say no more;
for Ford is back from the ocean-track, and his heart is sick and sore;
and the raven's croak from the old home-oak is 'Never—nevermore!'"

In England the Earl of Derby secured over half a million more married men than single men as volunteers to go to the front. What's the answer?

In this talk of the Colonel's coming back there is no evidence at all that he is going some.

At the Dance-Door.

I.

Don't be standin' at the door
When the dancin' creaks the floor!
Can't a feller hold his ground?
Come in, for the reel-around!
When the fiddler does his best,
Up to you to do the rest!

II.

Come in, there, and take your stand
Where is Joy's own Promised Land;
Joy came early, and he'll stay
Till the stars sing "Break o' Day!"
Ain't that fiddler's music fine?
(Jenny says next dance is mine!)

Sermon to "the Blockaders."

"The blockaders ought to quit using potash in making liquor because it burns up the stomach and kills people," says The Dahlonega Nugget, and from that text preaches the following sermon:

"Only a few days ago a gentleman was telling us about a couple of blockaders who once lived in his settlement, who would go to the stores and buy a dozen cans of potash at a time to use in their business, drinking so much of their own 'doctored' liquor that in the course of only a short time this gentleman hauled both his neighbors and friends off to the cemetery where, if their funerals were preached, the minister was at a loss to know what to say, from the fact that they had committed suicide by burning up their stomachs. How many other people they had killed while taking their own lives the Lord only knows—in case He keeps any record of the blockading business."

The Lesson.

You think of all your troubles
An' halt along the way,
Ungrateful for the winter,
Unmindful of the May;
Hear no glad bells ringin',
But—o'er the way, behold:
There's a mockingbird a-singin'
'Round a nest that's lone and cold!

O. J. Coffin, who plays on "A Pore White's Banjo" for The Charlotte Observer, sings:

"Seein' we live once an' only once,
An' dyin' kaint return,

Would do his best ter learn
Whut livin' means; but all we know
Is whut we take fer granted:

Sidney Ormond.

Editor Constitution: When news of the death of Sidney Ormond went out over the state yesterday morning, I am sure that many people were both shocked and grieved. I wish to speak specially for myself and our journalism class that went to Atlanta three years ago to bring out, for the first time, an edition of The Constitution.

At that time Mr. Ormond was city editor. At first the young men were timid and afraid of the job; but Mr. Ormond soon convinced them, without a word of assurance, that he was their friend. He devoted the entire strenuous day to helping and encouraging those young men.

That night, as we trudged over the hill to Oxford from a midnight train, the one topic of discussion was the cordial manner in which we had been treated. In response to the question, "Who treated us best?" some said Howell, some said Gortatowsky, some said Clarke, some said others; and ALL said Ormond.

It is my opinion that nothing higher can be said of a man than that he helped, encouraged and inspired young men.

French Press Troubles.

The English and the German languages alike give the French newspapers quite as much trouble as papers on this side the water find in French and German names. Recently a Parisian paper revealed at some length the wonderful activity of "General Headquarters," a British commander in Mesopotamia! Some days before, another general, unknown, an Austrian this time, made his appearance in the translation of a Viennese bulletin, published in a number of Swiss-French papers. This was "General K-u-k," who was named as commanding the right wing of the army operating against the Montenegrins. In some of the Parisian journals military critics gravely discussed General K-u-k and the composition of his forces. Somewhat later a note appeared in the Swiss papers acknowledging that an error had been made at Geneva in transmission, and that the initials K-u-k, of three words, had been mistaken for the name of a general, the abbreviation being intended for the German terms, "Kaiserlich und koeniglich" (imperial and royal).

CITY HALL GOSSIP

IF WOMEN WERE IN COUNCIL.
By a Bachelor City Official—Some Woman Please Reply.

If women were in council,
What do you think they'd do
While spending those four millions
Of the city's revenue?

If women were in council,
Would they economize
And hunt around for bargains
In purchasing supplies?

If women were in council
Would they be up to tricks,
And go to pulling wires
While playing politics?

If women were in council
Would they ignore hereafters,
Get in the fight for all in sight—
I mean, would they be grafters?

MAYOR RETURNS FROM CONVENTION MUCH IMPROVED BY TRIP

Mayor James G. Woodward returned yesterday from his visit to Jacksonville, where he attended the Southeastern Mayors' convention.

The trip and outing did him good, and he looked improved in health when seen in his office Friday morning.

"The convention was a great success," he stated, "and all those present had a good time."

The mayor was honored by being elected vice president of the association which the mayors of the cities in the southeastern states have organized.

MAYOR TO VETO FINANCE SHEET AND WILL STATE WHY HE DOES SO

"Of course I am going to veto that finance sheet," stated Mayor Woodward yesterday on his arrival from Jacksonville, "and the members of council certainly knew that I would not approve a sheet that carries $205,000 more than the revenues of last year. The charter says that a reasonable anticipation can be made, but I don't think any man of good business sense would say that over $300,000 was reasonable."

The mayor says he will return the sheet to council with his disapproval and he will tell council very plainly why he does so.

CITY'S BONDED INDEBTEDNESS COMPARED WITH OTHER CITIES

Alderman Albert D. Thomson makes the following observation about the city's financial condition:

"In 1913 Atlanta's indebtedness per capita was only $29.12. Since then the bond indebtedness has been reduced $11,000,000, which now leaves the total debt only $4,500,000, which is a per capita of about $23. If we owed as much per capita as a city like Rochelle, N. Y., our total bonded indebtedness would be $18,000,000. Under the present state law of Georgia, Atlanta can make a bonded indebtedness of $14,000,000, which is $9,000,000 more than it is at present."

He gives the following indebtedness of cities in 1913 to show how Atlanta stands by comparison:

Chattanooga, $56.92; Memphis, $73.78; New Orleans, $121; Macon, $32.99; Savannah, $62.94; Augusta, $48.29; Atlanta, $29.12.

CHIEF CLERK IN TAX OFFICE CONFINED AT HOME BY ILLNESS

George B. Beauchamp, chief clerk in the city tax office, is ill at his home, and may not be at his desk for several days.

The chief clerk has been under the weather for some time and was at last forced to remain at home.

His many friends in the city hall and throughout the city wish for him a speedy recovery.

MEETING MONDAY AFTERNOON OF INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

The special council committee, appointed to investigate the charge that there are city officials who do not live in Atlanta, will hold its first meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Councilman Fred Woodall, chairman of the committee, has sent out a notice for the meeting, and he says that he understands that there are already several officials who are on the anxious bench.

AL JENNINGS TO BE HONOR GUEST AT MONDAY'S POLICE MATINEE

Al Jennings, the evangelist who once had a criminal record which he has wiped out, will be a guest of honor at the police court next Monday morning. He will be under special escort of B. Lee Smith, ex-councilman and ex-police commissioner.

"We are going to have a special matinee for Al," states Recorder Johnson. "We may not stage any train hold-ups, but we can give him some realistic Darktown scenes that may hold him for awhile."

KNOTTY LEGAL QUESTION PRESENTED TO RECORDER

A unique point of law has come before the recorder which he will refer to the city attorney. It is:

"If a Dago curses in foreign language, can he be found guilty of profanity by an American court?"

Attorney Harvey Hill has raised the question. He holds that oaths in a foreign language, which is not understood by those who hear it, is not profanity within the meaning of the criminal law.

"It's a pretty knotty question," states the recorder, "and I'm going slow on it until I hear from the city attorney."

WHY THE RECORDER'S COURT SHOULD HAVE AN AUTOMOBILE

In the requests to the council finance committee was one for an automobile for the recorder's court. As some questions were asked about why the court wanted such a vehicle, the recorder has risen up to explain:

"We have many contempt cases," he states, "involving thousands of dollars. Unless we can get hold of those in contempt we cannot get the money. With an automobile my special man, J. A. McKibben, can go out after these fellows and I can fine them. Such an auto would cause fines to be collected of more than a thousand dollars a year."

"Castles in the Air."

By Lammie Hodges.

How few of us live
In the castles we build—
These castles we build in the air,
Amid the gay flowers,
In Arcadian bowers,
For they vanish—and echo asks, "Where?"

In the glad days of childhood
In the sweet-scented wildwood,
We built then a play-house so fair;
How we filled it with toys,
And with meaningless joys,
But it vanished—and echo asks, "Where?"

In youth's bright rosy morn,
In the first blush of dawn,
Our castle with none could compare,
In its grandeur so high
It seemed touching the sky,
But it vanished—and echo asks, "Where?"

When a happy young wife
With such promise in life—
One castle seemed wondrously fair,
With sweet love overflowing,
And fondest hopes glowing,
But it vanished—and echo asks, "Where?"

With our baby's first kiss
Come the crisis of bliss,
Then love wrought our castle with care
For this dearest of flowers
From Eden's sweet bowers—
But it vanished—and echo asks, "Where?"

Now alone are we left
Of our treasures bereft;
And wrecked are our castles so fair;
The hopes that composed them,
The joys that enclosed them,
They have vanished—and echo asks, "Where?"

Now our castle on high
We have built in the sky—
Oh, Lord, shall we dwell in it there?
Perhaps 'mid the flowers
Are these castles of ours
That were not our "castles in air."

EXPERT TELLS OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA

Stanley H. Rose, export trade adviser of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the United States department of commerce, Washington, was honor guest at a luncheon given by the chamber of commerce Friday.

In a convincing manner Mr. Rose reviewed the opportunities for the establishment of trade relations with South American countries and he told of the desire of the government to be of aid to the manufacturers and dealers of the United States in disposing of their products in heretofore closed markets.

After telling of the work of the bureau and explaining that American business men can secure aid from it merely for the asking, Mr. Rose made some suggestions as to the methods of going after South American trade. He said in part:

"One thing I want to impress upon you. The same energetic and thorough method used by the American manufacturer in building up his domestic business must be used in going after his foreign trade. The bureau will show you the way, but it can not get you the order. How is it that a manufacturer will spend thousands of dollars oftentimes in sending out salesmen from the Atlantic to the Pacific and will balk at the expense of a few dollars to have a letter which is being sent out to get business, translated into idiomatic Spanish or Portuguese? While I am talking on translations, let me say that I am a great believer in a foreign business man being addressed in his own language. Your letter to him should be an idiomatically worded, Spanish or Portuguese or French letter and not a more literal translation of what you would have written to him in English.

"In sending out catalogs to countries where foreign languages are almost universally spoken, it is useless to send English catalogs; have these translated idiomatically. Many times it is as good to first send out a catchy little sales letter or circular and let a catalog follow when you find out that the prospective customer is interested.

South American Trade.

"Now, getting down to actual opportunity for doing business, South America has, strange to say, held the center of the stage since the outbreak of the European war. Out of ten inquiries received by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce from firms anxious to get into the export game, seven or eight are: 'Tell us how to do business with South America?' The South American crusade has been preached by professional and amateur export advisors, and other markets lying as close, if not closer, or at any rate, not so much further away, have never been thought of by many of our manufacturers. What about Russia, China, Australia, New Zealand, India, Ceylon, South Africa, Scandanavia, Spain and other countries cut off from their regular supplies. To show the possibilities of what we can do in shipping some of these countries, I can tell you that comparing 1915 with 1913, our exports for June, July, August and September to South America have increased 22 per cent, to Asia 51 per cent and to Australia 77 per cent.

"A great deal has been said about the risk of doing business with foreign countries. It is my firm conviction that the risk is less than with domestic business. Take Australia and New Zealand. They are so far away, and I have yet to hear of any large loss made by an American house in selling to Australasian merchants. On the contrary, when doing export business, in most cases a goodly portion of the bill is paid for on shipment and if care is used, no bad debts need be incurred. The banks engaged in foreign business and the inquiry agencies have opened extensive foreign departments, and it is easy to find out with whom you are doing business. If you find a man has been for many years in business in a foreign city, has always met his payments and is considered of good repute locally, you run no more risk than you do if you sell to a man in your own state.

How to Succeed.

"If you want to succeed in foreign trade, study, above all, the wants of your foreign buyers.

"Before you approach a new market with your goods or with your price lists or catalogs, or even your selling letters, find out through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce whether your articles can be used in that particular country. Agricultural implements will not sell in the mountains of Sonora, mining machinery will not sell in the Manitoba prairie and canned pork and beans will not sell in Mohammedan Turkey. The bureau has in its research division a mass of information available and will be glad to point out to you how to secure this. Above all, study the peculiarities and customs of your overseas customers or prospective customers.

"In sending representatives to South America, it must be borne in mind that the salesman speaking Spanish and Portuguese fluently has an immense advantage. He must be a man of polished appearance and of social and polished manner. The quiet, polite man who carries the conviction of his customers that what he says he will make good is the man for that country. The best man in the United States may not be the best man in South America. Do not skimp on his expenses, which will at least be $12 to $15 per day.

"In conclusion, gentlemen, I want again to impress upon you that we are anxious to co-operate with you. Atlanta is one of eight cities in the United States having a direct branch office of the bureau. I should like you to make as much use as possible of this office at 521 postoffice building. Every publication issued by the bureau comes to this branch office, every list of foreign importers sent by our consuls is on file there, and you may often run up against a problem which your commercial agent in charge of that office, Mr. Fairbanks, may be able to solve for you in a very few minutes. Questions on tariff and trade-marks he will take up for you in Washington, giving you definite information within a very few days."

Announcement.

It is ordered that all cases remaining upon the docket for the October term, 1915, be assigned to the trial calendar for argument by briefs at 2 o'clock p. m. on Monday, February 21, 1916. The filing of briefs and written arguments will be governed by existing rules. Cases in which no briefs are filed for plaintiffs in error will be dismissed for want of prosecution. (Irwin v. A., K. & N. Ry. Co., 113 Ga. 185). No briefs will be received on behalf of defendants in error which are not filed within the time limited by this order (Savannah & C. Ry. Co. v. McCoy, 86 S. E. 282). Reply briefs will be received if filed by February 28. All preliminary motions must be filed by February 21, and no such motion will be afterwards received the grounds of which existed and might by reasonable diligence have been known within the time herein limited.

TWO-CENT MOVIES.

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

A celebrated movie star is working on a plan to provide 2-cent moving pictures, "so that the woman with a shawl over her head and the laborer earning $1.50 a day and feeding a family of six will have some place of amustment to which they can afford to go."

The movie was originally the poor man's pastime, but it partly has been removed from him as admission prices have been raised. "Nickelodeons," numerous at first, are now few and far between. But, while expenses of production have increased as admissions went up, it is still true that no amusement enterprise is operated at so little expense or so great profit.

Two-cent admissions doubtless would cover the actual cost of production, and the operating expenses of the average film show now.

Two-cent theaters, showing cheaper releases, or later releases of the high-class productions, probably would pay well if the theaters were located properly. The 2-cent movie field is open not only to philanthropy, but to business.

PAIR OF SHOES WORN 140 YEARS.

(From The Lexington (Ky.) Leader.)

A unique and interesting relic in the shape of a pair of home-made baby shoes, made back in the good old pioneer days, was presented to the Kentucky Historical society at Frankfort by Colonel C. E. Merrill, the widely known former confederate and retired journalist of this city. The shoes were made by Colonel Merrill's great-great-grandfather and have been worn by three generations of the Merrill family—his great-grandfather his grandfather and himself.

These shoes have an interesting family history. Since the beginning of their career, 140 years ago, in the tanyard of Andrew Merrill, who served with General Washington in the war of the revolution until the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, the shoes have been placed on the feet of 300 babies of the Merrill family.

They have traveled through seven states, and had been returned from Texas only a few days ago, when they were sent by Colonel Merrill to join the valuable collection of relics in the museum of the Historical society at Frankfort.

A MESSAGE TO YOUNG MEN.

(From Collier's Weekly.)

Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, is better understood by most of us today than he was in his lifetime—though some of us were keen enough to appreciate his qualities then—Minister to Belgium Brand Whitlock, of one. This year Secretary of State Woods, of Illinois, places in his "Blue Book" Governor Altgeld's message to young men—a ringing invitation to service and to ideals:

"Young men, life is before you. Two voices are calling you—one coming from the swamps of selfishness and force, where success means death, and the other from the hilltops of justice and progress, where even failure brings glory. Two lights are seen in your horizon—one the fast fading marsh light of power, and the other the slowly rising run of human brotherhood. Two ways lie open before you—one leading to an ever lower and lower plain, where are heard the cries of despair and the curses of the poor, where manhood shrivels and possession rots down the possessor; and the other leading off to the highlands of the morning, where are heard the glad shouts of humanity and where honest effort is rewarded with immortality."

GREAT YEAR IN SPORT.

(From The New York Herald.)

It has been a great year in all branches of sport, notably in tennis and golf, where new champions have displaced old ones, showing in their victories surprising skill and indomitable courage. Woman has shared with her stronger brother the honors on courts, on links and in the water, again demonstrating that she is advancing in brawn as well as brain.

Football knew its greatest season. Many new gridiron heroes are added to the stars of yesterday. While "the diamond" was oftentimes under a cloud owing to the bickerings of league club owners, the danger has hapily been averted and once more the national game is in a fair way to renew its glory.

A CANNIBAL SPIDER.

(From The Philadelphia North American.)

He doesn't spin a web, like other spiders, to catch his prey, because he doesn't have to. He's big enough to win his way and catch his food without setting traps for it.

In some parts of South America, where he attains his greatest size, he's almost as big as a rat, and travelers report that they have found him with small birds in his clutches. Hence they give him the name—bird-eating spider.

As a rule, he lives in a hole in the ground, lining it with a silk sack which keeps the loose soil from tumbling in on his home and burying him in a landslide. Sometimes he will build a cocoon-like home in the branches of a tree.

At night he goes hunting for food, which consists for the most part of beetles and other insects. His immense size, however, makes it possible for him to capture many larger creatures.

The male spider of this species is smaller than the female, and can run faster. His speed does him a good turn, too, for Mrs. Spider bears an inherited grudge against her mate and frequently turns cannibal and eats him. At such times the male spider's smaller size enables him to make his escape under stones and in crevices where the female cannot reach him.

CORONER PROBES LYNCHING IN LEE

Sylvester, Ga., January 21.—The bodies of five negroes taken from the Worth county jail here last night and rushed in automobiles to the adjoining county of Lee, where they were hanged and their bodies shot through with bullets, were cut down late today and preparations made to bury them. A coroner's inquest held today returned a verdict that the negroes came to their "death by strangulation and gunshot wounds at the hands of unknown parties."

There had been no arrests tonight in connection with the lynching, and whatever steps authorities of this or of Lee county may be taking to apprehend the lynchers are not known here. The men who took the negroes from jail late last night by the ruse of getting admission to the jail on pretense that they wanted to put a negro in a cell for safe keeping, apparently had laid their plans so carefully and carried them out so well that they left no open trail behind them.

For Safekeeping.

The negroes lynched had been brought here for safekeeping after being arrested as suspects in connection with the killing of Sheriff Moreland, of Lee county. They were: Rodius Semore and Felix Lake and Lake's three sons, Frank, Dewey and Major. James Keith, another negro arrested, and said here to be suspected of the actual killing of Sheriff Moreland, had been taken to another jail before the mob arrived last night.

Sheriff L. A. Potts, of this county, has refused to tell where he sent Keith. Reports circulated tonight and reached county officials that Felix Lake and his sons, before their capture by the mob, had confessed being connected with the shooting of Sheriff Moreland. There was, however, no confirmation.

The negro whom the mob picked up, supposedly near here, and carried bound to the jail in order to gain admittance, disappeared in the confusion last night and has not been seen here since. No other prisoners in the jail were harmed. Citizens of this county claim the mob came from Lee county, where Sheriff Moreland was well liked. Both this and Lee county were reported quiet tonight, with no outward indications of more trouble.

Sheriff Saw But Three.

So well executed were the plans of the men who took five negroes from the jail here and lynched them early today in Lee county that Sheriff L. A. Potts saw only three of them, he said today.

"The first I knew anything was wrong was when one of three men who had brought a bound negro to the door, pointed a pistol at me and told me to get into a bathroom. They had told me they wanted to keep the negro they had with them in jail at least over night.

"I was completely at their mercy, so of course I complied with their demand to get into the bathroom, and also to give them my keys. These men were not masked.

"There is no lock on the bathroom door, so two of them remained with me, keeping me covered all the time. Within a few minutes I heard a shrill whistle and then footsteps as if many men were entering the jail.

"In a little while the same whistle was blown again and my two captors suddenly left me and rushed out of the jail. Within a minute or two after that I heard several automobiles going north at a rapid rate of speed.

"I had never seen the men who first came to the door, but I would know them if I saw them again."

PLANS OF LYNCHERS WERE CAREFULLY MADE

Albany, Ga., January 21.—Forty or fifty men, acting with precision indicative of carefully laid plans, took five negroes from the Worth county jail at Sylvester last night, carried them in automobiles to Lee county and hanged them all to one limb of a tree close by the side of the principal road leading into Starkville. The negroes were being held in the Worth county jail in connection with the killing of Sheriff Moreland, of Lee county, who met his death at the hands of negroes in Worth county during the Christmas holidays. Starkville is a hamlet 3 miles from Leesburg, the county seat of Lee county.

Cutting all wires leading north from Sylvester was included in the plans of the party. For that reason the fate of the negroes was not definitely known until today, hours after they had been lynched. They were quickly taken from the jail, loaded into automobiles and started north, but nothing more than that was known for some time. The bodies, perforated with bullet holes, were cold when found this morning.

Clever Ruse Works.

About 10 o'clock last night Sheriff L. A. Potts was awakened by four or five men who announced that they had captured a negro and wanted to place him in jail. They were admitted, bearing a negro bound with ropes. Suspecting nothing, the officer watched the men as they calmly loosened the bonds. Suddenly the situation changed, however, as the visitors seized the officer and demanded the keys to the cells. They soon were forthcoming. At that moment several automobiles were driven in front of the jail. The men in them hurriedly entered, joined the men who had preceded them and all who did not watch the officer helped get the negroes.

The negroes were rushed out of jail, bundled into the machines and all started north at a rapid pace. The officers immediately attempted to resort to the telephone to head off the party, but it was soon ascertained that all lines north were out of order. Later it was learned they had been cut.

Eight Autos Used by Lynchers.

Reports from Oakfield today were that eight automobiles passed through there late last night, going toward Leesburg. Leesburg citizens also reported that eight machines passed through that town at about 12:30 o'clock this morning. Starkville is 8 miles from Leesburg, which is between 18 and 20 miles from Sylvester.

Sheriff Potts today stated that the men made no attempt to molest the twenty-three other prisoners in the jail.

The bodies had not been cut down several hours after they were found, but preparations were under way for the coroner to take charge of them and hold an inquest.

Hanged Near Road.

The bodies were found by Lee county citizens who were out on the roads early today, apparently under the impression that there was reason to believe that if any of the negroes were taken from the jail they would be taken to Lee county, where Sheriff Moreland was popular. Going out from Starkville a short distance, they encountered the ghastly scene of the five men hanging to one limb within full view from the road. Apparently they had been strung up and then became targets for the men who had taken them from jail.

Four of the victims were of one family—Felix Lake and his three sons, Frank, Dewey and Major. The fifth was Bodius Semore.

It was believed, however, that James Kieth, a negro, was the prisoner most wanted by the lynchers. It was said that there was more evidence against him than any of the others.

Sheriff Potts, however, had taken the precaution to remove him several days ago to some other jail, the location of which he has not divulged.

Moreland was killed at the home of Felix Lake, when he went there to arrest a negro. It was reported that more than one of those in the house shot him, and all were arrested later.

LYNCHING MAY BE PROBED BY SPECIAL GRAND JURY

Americus, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) The special session of the Lee county grand jury, called to convene with the special term of superior court on Monday, January 31, will probably consider the lynching of five negroes at Starkville, three miles north of Leesburg, early Friday morning. Judge Z. A. Littlejohn called the grand jury when he made an order for an extra session to try four men indicted for the Oliver murder. The grand jury will take up all matters pertaining to that body just as in regular session.

Judge Littlejohn, first informed of the lynching by your representative, had no comment beyond saying: "It is regrettable."

CONFESSED TAKING PART IN KILLING OF SHERIFF

Leesburg, Ga., January 21.—Four of the five negroes who were lynched near here last night confessed to taking part in the killing of Sheriff Moreland, according to reports reaching Lee county officials today. The father of the Lake boys is said to have admitted that he loaded a shotgun with nails and slugs, causing a terrible wound in Moreland's body when he was shot.

The fifth negro is said to have declared his innocence, but is alleged to have been implicated by the other four negroes.

This city was quiet tonight. The bodies of the negroes have been cut down and will be buried tomorrow morning.

Moonshine Workers Are Free From Raids During Court Session

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good."

As alleged moonshiners are being tried in the district court, the services of practically the entire forces of the United States marshal and revenue agent are required in the court room.

The officers are appearing as witnesses in the cases on the docket and, naturally, can do little field work during the time that they are in Atlanta in attendance upon court.

Therefore, few expeditions are being formed for early visits to the surrounding country and not one has been made during the present week. If there are any stills left in the northern district of Georgia, the operators have a fine opportunity now to operate them without a great deal of fear. The officers, in the majority of instances, have other work to do.

Rapid progress is being made by Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, in clearing the docket, more than 100 cases having been taken from the calendar during the first five days of the present week. Convictions have been secured in many instances and not a few of pleas of guilty have been entered. Several alleged moonshine makers have forfeited their bonds.

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH IN ROOM OF EX-WIFE

As it never gets behind in criminal episodes, Darktown now has a murder mystery.

There was arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon a portly Darktown cook who gave her name as Maggie Thornton. On last Wednesday night Maggie's ex-husband, Curtis Thornton, was found murdered in her apartments, 202 Edgewood avenue. Through his heart was a pistol bullet hole and by his feet was a hatchet.

Other occupants of the apartments heard a woman scream and then a pistol shot.

Maggie said she was alone in her room, when she looked up and beheld her ex-husband brandishing a hatchet over hear head. She screamed. The door was half pushed open. A pistol was fired and her ex-husband fell dead on the floor.

Detectives worked on the case, but they could not discover who did the shooting.

The woman was told to go free.

WIRE SOCIETY PLANS BIG ANNUAL MEETING

The Telephone and Telegraph society of Atlanta will hold its big meeting of the year at the Piedmont hotel. Arrangements have been made to serve dinner to more than 500 members and the program is said to contain many surprises.

The committee in charge of the affair has carried on its work in secret. Business has been tabooed and the meeting will be a riot of fun from beginning to end. In order to save embryonic orators the trouble of preparing speeches announcement has been made that no speeches will be permitted.

SLATE NAMED RECEIVER IN J. P. LAIRD'S CASE

W. O. Slate was named as receiver for J. P. Laird, doing business on Edgewood avenue as the Atlanta Store Lighting company. The alleged bankrupt filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the bankruptcy division of the United States courts.

STATE EXPECTED TO ASK MANDAMUS CASE POSTPONEMENT

When the hearing in the mandamus case of the North Georgia Mineral Railway company against Secretary of State Phil Cook, seeking to compel him to grant a charter applied for some eighteen months ago, comes up in Fulton superior court for hearing today, it is expected that the state will ask for a postponement on account of the illness of Secretary Cook.

Secretary Cook has been ill at his home with la grippe for about a week, and it was stated at his office Friday that his condition has not improved. He has received orders from his physicians not to expose himself, and it is ot expected that he will be well enough to attend court this morning.

Attorney General Clifford Walker, who represents Secretary Cook in the matter, stated that the state will ask for a postponement if Secretary Cook is not able to be in court.

The North Georgia Mineral Railway company, through its attorneys, King & Spalding and Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, filed petition before Judge J. T. Pendleton, of Fulton superior court, several weeks ago, asking a writ of mandamus ordering Secretary Cook to issue a charter to the railway to build a line from Whites, near Cartersville, to Atlanta. Secretary Cook was cited to appear in court last Saturday and show cause why he should not grant the charter. The state did not have its case ready at that time, however, and a postponement was granted. The state filed its answer last Monday night.

Secretary Cook had declined to grant the charter after the passage of the Western and Atlantic anti-paralleling act of August, 1915.

COUNTIES TO BLAME FOR LACK OF MONEY FOR THE TEACHERS

The only reason there is not now enough money available in the state treasury for the immediate payment of the balance due the state's school teachers upon their 1915 salaries is that there are some 30 or 40 counties which have not yet forwarded their state tax money to the treasurer's office, according to a statement Friday of State Treasurer W. J. Speer and Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain.

More than this, it is stated that some of the counties which have been making complaints to the state on account of the delay in making this back payment to the teachers are among those counties which have collected their taxes but have not yet forwarded them to the state treasury.

It is stated that the forwarding of these amounts would put the state treasury in good shape to meet the demands made upon it.

At present there is in the state treasury some $340,000 available for demand upon the governor's warrant. The total still due the teachers on their 1915 salaries is $450,000.

WAR DEPARTMENT WANTS DATA FOR "PREPAREDNESS" IN GA.

Major General Leonard Wood, of the United States army, has written to Governor Harris asking for information in regard to railroads, public highways, waterways and other information which would be necessary to the intelligent movement of an army in case of war. General Wood states that information of this sort is lacking in South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, and he wants to know whether maps showing such means of transportation are available, and, if not, whether the state can obtain this data.

No such maps are available and there is no appropriation in this state by which this information could be obtained. The war department now has a crew of engineers making a survey from Port Royal sound, South Carolina, to Brunswick, Ga., and he is asking that Georgia and South Carolina cooperate with the war department in obtaining such information as may be necessary in working out a plan of defense for the coasts of these states.

General Wood admits that it would be hard for an invading force to come up the Savannah river from the sea, but states that the defenses at the mouth of this river could readily be attacked from the land side.

Governor Harris has referred General Wood's letter to Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, who will take the matter up and see what can be done about it.

NEW MAPS OF GEORGIA ARE NOW AVAILABLE AT CAPITOL

The state department of agriculture has just received its new maps of Georgia. These maps are a great improvement over the old ones. They not only show all the new counties, but all the improved public roads are outlined upon the maps in green as special information for automobilists. The location of farm demonstration agents and agricultural schools is also indicated.

The state railroad commission has also received its revised railroad maps of the state.

STATE FILES ITS ANSWER IN RAILROAD STOCK TAX SUIT

Comptroller General William A. Wright Friday filed the answer of the state to the petition of the Georgia Railroad and Banking company, seeking in the United States district court an injunction restraining the comptroller general from proceeding to collect taxes on $1,500,000 worth of the bonds of the Western of Alabama railroad, which the state claims is due for eight years back. This tax, if collected, would amount to something like $270,000.

The comptroller general's answer was drawn by the office of the attorney general, and alleges that the stock in question was owned by the Georgia Railroad and Banking company, and was sold to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, which subleases from the Georgia Railroad and Banking company the Georgia railroad, the transfer being made for a nominal consideration for the purpose of dodging taxation. The Louisville and Nashville is a foreign corporation, and it is claimed that the situs for taxation is not in this state.

"JIM" PRICE'S HAT WILL BE BIGGEST IN THE RING

Now that the season for throwing one's hat in the ring has arrived, no candidate in Georgia will have a bigger hat in the ring this summer than "Marse Jim" Price, state commissioner of agriculture—not if "Marse Jim" konws it!

The genial commissioner has some known inclination to wear large skypieces. There was no such hat in all Dixie as the Panama with which "Marse Jim" astounded city and country-side alike last summer. This lid held all records up to that time.

Friday, however, into the statehouse walked Colonel W. T. Brownlee, of Elberton, disporting a sombrero that made "Marse Jim" gasp.

"Marse Jim" took one good look at this hat.

"Here," he said to his stenographer, "send a telegram for me right away to that hat manufacturer where I got that panama, and tell him to send me the biggest hat he can make!"

LEE WORSHAM IS GINNING COTTON IN THE CAPITOL

State Entomologist E. Lee Worsham has received from the federal government a cotton gin of special design, which he is now running in the basement of the state capitol for the purpose of ginning early maturing specimens of cotton sent to him by farmers from various parts of the state. After the seed is ginned from this cotton the seed is saved by Mr. Worsham for experimentation in the boll weevil fight. The gin is in charge of A. C. Lewis, assistant to Mr. Worsham, and Ira W. Williams, head of the Valdosta boll weevil experiment station.

GOVERNOR HARRIS HONORED BY GOOD ROADS BUILDERS

Birmingham, Ala., January 21.—(Special.)—A distinct honor was paid Governor Nat E. Harris at the annual meeting of the United States Good Roads association, which recently convened in Birmingham, when he was elected to honorary life membership in that organization. This honor gives him all the privileges and courtesies and benefits of the organization. It makes a member of the governing council of the organization.

Some of the ablest and most distinguished good roads advocates in the United States are founders and members of the organization. Among the members is Senator John H. Bankhead, chairman of the committee on post-office and post roads, who was one of the founders, life members and the first president of the organization.

Secretary J. A. Rountree has notified Governor Harris of the honor that has been conferred upon him, and it is expected that he will accept the same, and in the future take an active interest in the work of the association.

LAMPKIN'S CONDITION IS STILL UNIMPROVED

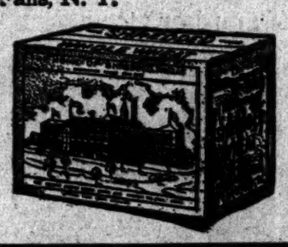

Alonzo C. Lampkin, one of Atlanta's oldest and best-known citizens, is seriously ill at his home, 630 West Peachtree, from a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Lampkin was stricken several days ago, and his condition does not show much improvement.

Joseph T. Wiley, his brother-in-law, formerly of Atlanta and now of Birmingham, has arrived in the city, and is now at his bedside.

Has "Watchful Waiting" Exhausted the Nation's Patience?

The temper of the American people which has been sorely tried by the continuous indignities and murders in Mexico has risen to white heat at the latest outrage resulting in the slaughter of nearly a score of peaceful and unarmed American citizens by Mexican bandits at Santa Ysabel on January 10th.

In the United States senate stormy speeches attacking the President's policy in Mexico have been uttered by Senators who have not heretofore been noted for belligerent utterances.

Newspapers throughout the country, both Republican and Democratic, have made an emphatic demand for the safety of Americans in Mexico, even at the price of armed intervention.

What Do the People Want?

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 22d the leading article gives a complete survey of the Mexican situation and presents the gist of public opinion from every angle as printed in the newspaper press. At no time since the troubles in Mexico began has the outlook, as it concerns the American people, assumed so grave a character as at the present time. Thoughtful Americans, whatever their politics, will read this number of "The Digest" carefully, because from it they will secure an unbiased view of public feeling.

LOCAL FIVE PLAYS BIRMINGHAM QUINT

Old Rivals Meet in Birmingham Tonight—The Locals After the Twelfth Straight Victory.

The Atlanta Athletic club basketball team will leave this morning for Birmingham, where they will play their second road game of the season against their old rivals, the Birmingham Athletic club.

This is the first of two games between these two teams, the second game to be played in Atlanta later in the season.

This game will be of greatest importance to the locals in their battle for the southern basketball championship this season, and the locals are confident of their ability to repeat last season's dose when they won for the first time over a Birmingham team in Birmingham.

If the locals are successful in winning tonight, they will score their fifth consecutive victory of the season and their twelfth consecutive win, winning the last seven games they played last season when they won the southern title.

After the game tonight the locals have five more games on their schedule, playing the following teams in the order named: Auburn, Birmingham, L. S. U., Georgia and Columbus. The Georgia game will be played in Athens, the other four in Atlanta.

Comparative scores give the locals an edge on the Barons. The only common opponent they met, the American School of Osteopathy, resulted in a 41 to 26 score in Birmingham's favor, against a 75 to 20 score in Atlanta's favor.

The probable line-up of the two teams will be:

Atlanta.	Position.	Birmingham.
Forbes, Lester	rf	McGowan
Graves.
Westmoreland	lf	Robinson
Dubard	c	Strange

OFFER OF $55,000 MADE TO WILLARD AND MORAN

New York, January 21.—James Johnson, manager of Madison Square Garden, announced tonight an offer of $35,000 to Willard and $20,000 to Frank Moran for a ten-round boxing match here the latter part of March.

Kansas City, January 21.—With the intention of concluding arrangements for a championship bout in the spring and perhaps another fight later in the summer, Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, and Tom Jones, his manager, left here tonight for Chicago, where they will meet Jack Curley.

"I'm ready to meet anybody they bring on," Willard asserted. "I want at least one fight before I begin my engagement with a circus, and maybe another one, if the dates are satisfactory."

It was intimated that should the signature of Frank Moran not be forthcoming to the proposed contract for a bout in New York that Fred Fulton might be substituted.

FOUR BASEBALL VETS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

William J. O'Neil, long prominent in the best baseball society, was born on this date in 1880 at St. Johns, New Brunswick. There have been many O'Neils and O'Neills in baseball.

One of the greatest, J. E. O'Neil, the original "Tip," died in Montreal a few weeks ago. "Tip" was the chap who, while playing with the St. Louis Browns of the old American association, set up the batting record of .492.

Another old-timer, Ira Thomas, was born thirty-five years ago today at Ballston Spa, N. Y. Ira was with Hartford, Newark, Providence, the Yanks and Detroit before he became the star backstop of Connie Mack's great machine. Thomas acted as a scout for the Mack club last summer.

This is also the twenty-seventh birthday of Amos Strunk, the outfielder of the Athletics, and one of the few 1915 survivors of the once proud Mackmen. The big left-hander started playing ball in league in 1908 and was picked up by Connie Mack, but was farmed out to Milwaukee in 1909. He was recalled to the Athletics the following year, and in 1911 was made the regular center gardener of the champions. Strunk was born in Philadelphia, and is one of the few players to make good in their home towns.

LOOKING THEM OVER

WITH BILLY EVANS

STORIES AND FACTS ABOUT DIAMOND STARS.

It never pays to argue with the boss. There is a well-known umpire who is absolutely positive of that fact. It so happened that the president of the league in which the well-known official once worked, had at one time during his career been regarded as a great umpire.

Late in the year the umpire got into trouble on the field. The president didn't approve of the manner in which the umpire handled the situation. He made it a point to explain to the umpire what he should have done under the existing conditions. The umpire didn't relish the attitude assumed by the president, for he expected to be upheld in the manner in which he had handled the affair. The umpire objected to the censure on the ground that the president, not being familiar with the conditions on the field, was therefore not in a position to decide what action was really best to pursue. The president with emphasis informed the official that he had always been regarded as a great umpire in his day, to which the umpire replied in this rather sarcastic vein:

"If you were a great umpire in your day, then I am the greatest in my day or any other day, for I can see better around a corner than you ever could straight away." It is needless for me to add that the umpire worked in another league the following season.

Comment is often made on the fact that a native son is seldom seen representing the city he calls his home. It is often the case that four or five athletes who live in Boston may wear the colors of the Chicago club, while three or four native New Yorkers may play with St. Louis. This condition is largely due perhaps to the attitude of the players, also the owners. Most ball players prefer to make their start in some other city than the one called home. They are of the belief that chances to succeed are much better elsewhere.

In this contention they are borne out by a number of cases where native sons had all kinds of trouble getting started in their home town. Baseball records also show that a great many players who have failed in their home towns have immediately made good when placed elsewhere. Most players are of a superstitious nature, so it is only natural that they would prefer making their debut elsewhere, as a bush leaguer or a big leaguer, as the case may be.

In this connection I have in mind the case of Harold Janvrin, of the Boston club. I regard Janvrin as a really great ball player. Had some major league club other than Boston secured him when he broke in to the big league, Janvrin would undoubtedly be a much talked about young man today. Janvrin was taken from the school lots to the big show, sent to the minors for some experience and then brought back to fast company when it was figured he was ready. Boston fans could only remember Janvrin as a schoolboy player, they didn't believe it possible that he could improve so quickly as to justify a major league berth. On the other hand, Janvrin knew just the light in which he was regarded and for that reason tried all the harder to show his friends and others who couldn't see him that he really was the goods. It is a certainty that this feeling of anxiety had its effect on his work. Janvrin in his early debuts at Boston practically overplayed himself and didn't show his true form. His lot has been a hard one, and were he not a game player he would have failed. In baseball circles other than his home town Janvrin is highly regarded. Any of the other seven American league clubs would jump at the chance to secure him.

Baseball Became National Game 59 Years Ago Today

By "Gravy."

Today marks the beginning of the sixtieth year of baseball as a really national pastime. It was on January 22, 1857, that a meeting was held in New York at which the National Association of Baseball Players was lauched. Twenty-five clubs were represented, with three delegates from each team, and an amateur league was organized in New York and vicinity—the first baseball league in history. That same year the Twimountain club was organized in Boston, being the first of the New England clubs to play the New York game, although there were many clubs in that section playing a somewhat different sort of ball.

At the New York convention the code of baseball rules drawn up in 1845 was adopted, with one notable exception. The change was to the effect that nine innings should constitute a game, and that the club scoring the greatest number of runs should be declared the victor. Prior to 1857 a game consisted of twenty-one "aces," or runs. The nine-chapter contest adopted in 1857 has remained in vogue ever since.

The New York meeting gave a tremendous impetus to baseball, and led to its spreading over the United States and Canada. In the year of the New York convention baseball was played as far west as Illinois, the Rockford and Chicago clubs being the pioneer team in that section, with the Chicago Excelsiors a close second. By 1860 baseball had reached the Pacific coast, the first regular game having been played in San Francisco that year. There were also two clubs in St. Louis, and several others in the middle west and south, and three or four in Canada. Baseball was then being played in nearly every town in the east, and in 1860 the Excelsiors of Brooklyn made the first important baseball tour, defeating teams in Albany, Troy, Buffalo, Rochester and Newburg. The Brooklynites also visited Philadelphia and Baltimore, and introduced the real article in baseball to the fans of those cities.

The civil war put a temporary stop to the progress of the game, but in 1865 the national convention had delegates from Louisville, Leavenworth, St. Louis and several Canadian cities. Fifty years ago, in 1866, there were 237 clubs in "organized" amateur baseball, which was then and henceforth a truly international pastime.

MAJOR LEAGUES OPEN SEASONS ON APRIL 12

Chicago, January 21.—President B. B. Johnson, of the American league; Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg National club, and Secretary Heydler, of the National league, today began the task of putting into shape the National and American league schedules already agreed upon for the coming season. It was definitely decided yesterday to open the season Wednesday, April 12.

MORE FEDERAL PLAYERS BOUGHT BY YANKEES

New York, January 21.—The New York Americans purchased three more Federal players today. The star of the trio is Nick Cullop, who ranked fourth in the Federal league twirling averages last season. The other two are Joe Gedeon and Herman (Germany) Schaefer. Gedeon is a hard-hitting second baseman. Schaefer will be used in a general capacity.

The club released Pitchers Brown and Ring to Louisville and Outfielder Daley to the Vernon club of the Coast league.

JIMMY JOHNSTON BOUGHT BY DODGERS

New York, January 21.—Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National league baseball club, today purchased from Harry F. Sinclair, the former Federal league magnate, the release of Outfielder Jimmy Johnston, one time star of the Pacific Coast league. The price paid by Ebbets for the player was not announced.

Johnston formerly played for Birmingham in the Southern league and still holds the base stealing record for the league.

TULANE COACH MAY INSTRUCT TENNESSEE

Knoxville, Tenn., January 21.—It became known today that Clark B. Shaughnessy, star of the University of Minnesota football team of 1911-12-13, and coach at Tulane university, New Orleans, the past season, is being considered as the possible successor of Miller Pontins as assistant football coach at the University of Tennessee next fall.

CUBAN CATCHER SIGNED BY FRANK

By Dick Jemison.

Another player was added to the Crackers' roster yesterday when Manager Frank announced the receipt of a letter from Joe Massaguer, Jr., manager of the Havana Reds, who played against the Crackers here last spring.

Joe wrote Manager Frank that Catcher Jose Maria Gutierres had accepted Manager Frank's terms and would report to the Crackers next spring, requesting advice as to when and where to report.

"Joe Massaguer, the baseball scout and promoter who placed Joe Rodrigues, the sensational Cuban first baseman, with the New York Giants, has just placed another promising player with a club in the states. The new man is Jose Maria Gutierres, the husky hard-hitting catcher of the San Francisco club of the Cuban Winter league. Gutierres caught for the Havana Reds last summer in the states, and proved to be a very valuable man not only as a catcher, but as a big gun in the offensive work.

"Gutierres goes to the Atlanta club of the Southern league, class A, now under the management of the veteran, Charles Frank, ex-manager of the champion Pelicans and ex-scout of the Cleveland Americans. Massaguer is confident that Gutierres will make good, as he is a hard worker and a player of real ability."

Played Against Locals.

Gutierres played against the Crackers in the four exhibition games that the Havana Reds played here last spring in winding up the exhibition season of the locals.

In the first game he batted for Rodrigues, the first baseman who goes to the Giants this spring, and hammered out a double. In the second game, he failed to get a hit in four times up, but fielded well. In the third game he got one hit in two times up and made three put-outs and three assists. In the fourth game he got two hits in four times up, one of them a triple, and had nine put-outs and two assists.

Massageur writes Frank that Gutierres has improved considerably since he played in the states and his work in games after he left Atlanta was featured principally by his hitting. It was this fact that persuaded Manager Frank to take a chance with the Cuban. "If he can hit," said Manager Frank, "I'll teach him how to do the rest of it."

Sports in Short Metre

Dallas, Texas, contemplates erecting a stadium in which to hold all kinds of amateur sporting events. The structure is to have a seating capacity of 20,000, and will cost about $100,000. Tacoma has a municipal stadium seating 32,000, and San Diego one with a capacity of 28,000.

The pick of the pocket billiard (pool) players of this country are expected to participate in the championship tourney which will be held in Chicago. The entry list may be limited to ten representative experts.

Kansas City Athletic club wants Norman S. Taber, champion mile runner, to take part in its indoor athletic meet, scheduled to be held in Convention hall of that city on February 26. Joe Ray, of Chicago, may run against him in a special contest.

The annual meeting of the National Lawn Tennis association will be held in New York on Friday, February 11.

Coach Spaeth, of Princeton university oarsmen, must develop practically a new eight-oared varsity crew, as Captain R. A. Cochran and E. H. Lee are the only veterans from last year's crew.

TODAY IN PUGILISM

1904—Joe Gans defeated Joe Grimm in ten rounds at Baltimore. This was one case where the vanquished got the honors, however, for it was the job of the clever little negro, then lightweight champion, to put Grimm to sleep, and he couldn't do it. Gans put every ounce of strength he possessed into the punches he landed almost at will on the Italian "iron man," but Grimm only smiled. No disgrace attached to Gans for his failure, for Joe Walcott, the welterweight champion, and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien had already tried to knock Grimm out and had failed, as had Bob Fitzsimmons. The year after the failure of Gans to make an impression on the Italian, Jack Johnson was given the job, but the heavyweight was no more successful than the lightweight had been. After every one of these fights Grimm publicly challenged Jeffries, but Jim didn't respond to the dell. It has been said that Grimm was never knocked out, but that is a mistake. The Philadelphian was injured in an election melee and had his head cracked by a club. After that he was easy for second-rate boxers, and took the count several times.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA LEAGUE TO MEET SATURDAY, JAN. 22

Birmingham, Ala., January 21.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Georgia-Alabama league to formulate plans for the coming season will be held in Birmingham Saturday, January 22.

At this meeting officers for the coming season will be elected, salary and player limits fixed, a schedule proposed and general business of the league discussed.

Griffin, Rome, Newnan, LaGrange, Talladega and Anniston will have representatives at the meeting. These are the same clubs that composed the league last season and they are expected to form the league again this year.

Rules to prohibit a violation of the salary limit, which marked practically every club in the league last season, will probably be passed.

Weeghman Will Aid Roger Bresnahan to Buy Toledo; His Contract Will Be Paid

Chicago, January 21.—Mr. Weeghman said today if Roger Bresnahan, former manager of the National league club, wished to purchase the Toledo American association club he would be willing to help him. He said that Bresnahan's contract, which has two years to run, would be taken care of. Joe Tinker, it has been announced by Mr. Weeghman, will succeed Bresnahan as manager of the National league club.

Keating Is Sold.

Chicago, January 21.—(Special.)—Walter Keating, shortstop of last year's National league club, has been sold to the St. Joseph, Mo., club of the Western league, it was announced today.

Keating received a try-out with the Crackers a few seasons ago.

MARIST AND G. M. A. WIN IN PREP LEAGUE

Marist Now Leads the League With Two Victories and No Defeats.

By Walter Reynolds, Jr.

In the second series of games played in the Prep league Marist college and the Georgia Military academy were returned victors. Neither team experienced much difficulty in downing their opponents, Joe Bean's team running up a score of 29 to 13 against the Tech High school team, while the G. M. A. team had a count of 38 to 14 on Peacock when the final whistle blew. These results leave Marist and Boys' High school, who had an off day yesterday, the only two of the five contestants who have not suffered defeats. The Boys' High team, however, have only one victory to their credit, while the Marist college boys have two.

Tech High-Marist Game.

This contest proved that the Marist team really has class and shows that the big score which they ran up on Peacock the previous week was no accident. They played a fast running game, feeding the ball to Dodge and Cheves, both of whom demonstrated their skill in basket shooting. The Tech High boys played a very plucky game, and through their determined efforts furnished many thrills for the crowd. They would rally occasionally and work the ball down to their goal, but before they could locate the basket, at which game they were woefully weak, some fleet opponent would grab the ball and their hopes would flee. The Tech High crowd are hard workers, and as this was their first game their playing will most likely show a decided improvement in the remaining games.

The Marist team as a whole played a grand game and they seemed to be well balanced in every department. However, if there were to be any bouquets thrown they would probably go to Dodge and Wrigley, though the others were very close behind them. Of the losers, Pinchot and Bankes were in the game at all times and gave a good account of themselves.

MARIST COL. (39).	Pos.	TECH HIGH (13).
Mott (6)	R. F.	Pinchot (3)
Wrigley (12)	L. F.	Bedell (2)
Dodge (15)	C.	Hamlet (8)
Cheves (4)	R. G.	Colcord
Jernigan	L. G.	Baker

Summary—Fouls called on Marist 9, on Tech High 7; goals from fouls, Dodge 1, Pinchot 2, Hamlet 2. Substitutes, Kelley for Bedell, Cobb for Hamlet, Gaston for Kelly.

G. M. A.-Peacock Game.

G. M. A. took a hotly-contested game from Peacock yesterday at College Park by the score of 38 to 14. This makes the second defeat for the Peacock boys and they will have to hustle if they wish to wind up anywhere near the top in the Prep league race. Peacock put up a better game yesterday than they did against Marist last week, but at that G. M. A. defeated them decisively.

Burghard, of G. M. A., played a great game at guard, and had it not been for his excessive activities the game would have proved a walkaway closer than it did. Bennett, his teammate, also played a star game. Burton and McReynolds, however, found the basket for the largest number of goals, each getting six.

PEACOCK (14).	Positions.	G. M. A. (38).
Armistead (6)	R. F.	Bennett (6)
Matthewson (6)	L. F.	Brown (6)
Scott	C.	McReynolds (12)
Carroway	R. G.	Burton (12)
Hancock (2)	L. G.	Burghard

Summary—Substitutes: For Peacock, Rusoe, Everett and Kickey; for G. M. A., Rollins and Wilkins.

Pinehurst Golf Record.

Pinehurst, N. C., January 21.—Playing three strokes under par, Philip Carter, Metropolitan junior champion, yesterday broke the record for golf course No. 2 here today, turning a card of 68. The score was made in a foursome in which Carter played with Jack Jolly against William Wilson and Herbert Lagerblade.

REQUISITION FOR HIERS ISSUED BY GOVERNOR

Augusta, Ga., January 21.—The authorities here assert that positive identification has been established that an automobile in possession of J. B. Hiers, under arrest in Miami, Fla., is the car which William Randall took out of Augusta early in January. Randall was murdered and Hiers is held as having knowledge of the crime. The car has been ordered shipped to Augusta. Governor Harris today made requisition on the governor of Florida for Hiers.

BILL SMITH WILL MANAGE RICHMOND

With Change of Owners, New Regime Appoints the Former Cracker Boss Manager of 1916 Team.

Billy Smith, manager of the Crackers last season, will be named manager of the Richmond team of the International league within a few days.

The Richmond officials have been considering Bill Smith for some time, but the matter was held in abeyance pending a change in ownership of the franchise.

Jack Dunn offered the club for sale, setting a price of $15,000 on it. Richmond business men started to work and yesterday finally raised the money necessary to purchase the franchise and keep it from being sent to Baltimore, where Jack Dunn planned to take it.

Advices from Richmond last night were to the effect that Manager Smith had the inside track on the job, and now that the deal has been completed, that an official announcement of his appointment as manager would probably be made.

Richmond, Va., January 21.—Alvin M. Smith, president of the Richmond Exhibition company, this afternoon announced that the $15,000 required to purchase Jack Dunn's International league team, Richmond franchise had been subscribed and the deal closed to keep the franchise from going to Baltimore.

DEATH IS DECREED TO ALL AMERICANS

In the fastness of the mountains, of which he has known since the days when, as a brigand, he successfully evaded every force Porfirio Diaz could send against him, Villa, according to his adherents, is awaiting developments of the movement started against Carranza by General Benjamin Argumedo, the Arrista brothers and others.

Jaures, Mexico, January 21.—Although supposed to be the object of a determined march by three Carranza columns sent out to bring him in, dead or alive, Francisco Villa, the proscribed Mexican chieftain, has found time to be married and has forsaken his cavalry saddle to ride in a coach with his bride, according to Ignacio Enriques, civil governor of the state of Chihuahua, who arrived here today.

At least two women, one in Cuba and the other in Los Angeles, are said to claim Villa as husband, but Enriques said he had authentic information that Villa tarried at Bachineva, in the mountains of western Chihuahua, long enough to marry.

The man who gave this information, Enriques said, saw Villa only four days ago. He confirmed previous reports that Villa was boasting he "could force intervention by the United States inside of thirty days." He asserted that Villa had only a few men with him. Enriques asserted that the man who made the report and forty other Villa followers had sought amnesty.

"We have three columns after Villa," Enriques added, "and I expect to hear any time that he has been killed or captured."

TROOPS GATHERED TO CRUSH NEW REVOLT.

El Paso, Texas, January 21.—General Jacinto Trevino, military chief for General Carranza in the states of Coahuila, Durango, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, arrived at Jiminez today en route to Torreon to take command of an army of at least 10,000 men now being concentrated, it is said, for a campaign to kill in its inception a possible new revolt led by Francisco Villa, Benjamin Argumedo, Contreras and other anti-Carranza chiefs.

Each of these leaders so far has been operating independently. Their partisans here, however, declare they are to combine and immediately enter upon the first phase of a new revolution.

Torreon was selected as concentrating point for the Carranza troops because of its location in the territory in which bandits are said to be operating. Argumendo's troops occupied a suburb of Torreon two weeks ago, and after looting some stores and holding up Howard Potter, a son of James Brown Potter, of Chicago, for $10,000, departed for the northwest. Since then the city has been reported quiet.

RIOTOUS SCENES MARK NEGROES' CONFERENCE

Stewards and Trustees of Big Bethel Repudiate Signatures to Report.

Riotous scenes marked the meeting last night of the quarterly conference of Big Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church at the corner of Butler street and Auburn avenue. Repudiations of their signatures to reports purporting to come from the trustees and the stewards and accusations that the pastor signed their names without authority and is unfit for the work which he is doing, featured the stormy session.

With a membership of 2,100 negroes, the church probably is the largest colored church in the south and its trustees and stewards handle approximately $4,000 per quarter. Friday night's conference was the first held since the assignment of Rev. F. R. Simms to the church as pastor for the second consecutive year following unsuccessful efforts of members of the congregation to have him removed by the bishop.

A petition recently was presented to Bishop J. F. Flipper, of Atlanta, in charge of the work of the denomination in this state, asking for the removal of the pastor. However, it was not acted upon favorably by the bishop and since his decision not to remove the minister, it is said that a great deal of dissatisfaction has existed.

It is said that the trustees and stewards in repudiating their signatures and fighting for the sending of the report back to the church acted as no other church in the south has ever acted before, and there was considerable excitement manifested at the service.

The pastor took the floor a number of times to explain that he did not sign or compile the report, as was charged by some of the speakers, and to declare that he was being treated unfairly. Until the next quarterly conference the affairs of the church will be in an unusual condition, in that never before have the reports been turned down.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. J. A. Hadley, the presiding elder. Negroes who led the fight on the pastor included J. Darden, C. L. Harper, C. A. Clark, J. H. Covington, G. McCluen, J. R. Porter, J. H. Maddox, D. B. Washington and C. King.

MERCHANTS "FLEECED" BY A CREDIT SCHEME

A new "fleecing" method was brought to light early Friday afternoon when two men, arrested by Detectives Cochran and Doyal, confessed to having secured over $100 worth of merchandise during the past several days from three stores.

W. Willingham, a carpenter, living at 254½ Decatur street, and E. C. Roberson, a machinist of Lawrenceville, Ga., were the men who were arrested by the detectives.

The method used by the two men was one which has not been heard of in Atlanta in some time, according to records at headquarters.

Willingham and Roberson have been making purchases at stores for the past two weeks. They have always charged whatever purchased to M. R. Davis, a railway conductor, it is said, whose credit was good at the three places, and each time assumed the name of M. R. Davis, the clerk knowing nothing of the fraud.

Among the articles purchased was a handsome watch, clothing, shoes and men's furnishings and a gun. The officers hid in one store and watched the men purchase a gun, following them out of the store and arresting them afterwards.

Each article purchased on Mr. Davis' account was solely by the men. The scheme was discovered when Davis received bills for the goods from the three stores in question.

Here Is the Platform Woodward Would Use If in Governor's Race

Although Mayor James G. Woodward admitted yesterday that he has not given the talk of his running for governor any serious consideration, he was willing to discuss at some length what his platform probably would be should he decide to enter the race. He stated, upon direct question, that, should he decide to run, he would make his platform "business management for the state," and he further declared that "any drastic legislation should be enacted by referendum to the people."

Mayor Woodward said that he has been urged by a number of friends, both in Atlanta and from many counties of the state to enter the race.

Omens of Spring's Early Coming

YES, it's true, Spring's first touch is here. Even the little birds show it by their quickening movements and seem more attentive to their mates to be. And the chickens—well, that's another story.

These new Spring Suits are "birds" of distinction and individuality. Hart Schaffner & Marx never made such good Clothes as they are turning out now. And the new Spring Overcoats are just as classy.

The prices are $15 to $35.

New Spring Hats, too, in the new color shadings of steel, tan, gray, olive, blue and black. Shapes with flat or roll brim to harmonize; all made by Stetson and Trimble at $3, $4, to $5.

The fine shoemakers of America can be counted quickly: Nettleton and Howard & Foster are at the head of the list.

LYRIC THEATER OPENING NOW SET FOR JANUARY 31

Mutual Celebrities, Headed by Marguerite Courtot, Will Be Present.

Because of the delay in the work of remodeling the Lyric theater, the opening date of the new policy of Mutual film offerings has been advanced to Monday, January 31, instead of the coming Monday, as first scheduled.

A program has been arranged for the first night that will make the Lyric opening one of the most conspicuous theatrical events in seasons. Mutual celebrities, headed by the charming Marguerite Courtot, will appear in person before the audience, and other surprises have been prepared by both the Mutual and Lyric management.

The week's offerings include the most pretentious of the Mutual's current productions. Such stars as William Russell, Charlotte Burton, Harold Lockwood, Sammy Burns, George Ovey, Florence La Badie, Carroll Holloway, William Clifford and Betty Hart are included in the casts of the first week's bookings.

"The Thoroughbred," a five-act drama, featuring William Russell and Charlotte Burton, will be the main number of the Monday and Tuesday program, in connection with "The Man in the Sombrero," a Harold Lockwood production, and a Vogue comedy. Diversification will be one of the dominant features of the Lyric's offerings.

"The Five Faults of Flo," an elaborate Mutual Masterpicture De Luxe, starring the noted Florence La Badie, will be the main attraction for Wednesday and Thursday, added to "Some Night," a farcical Beauty comedy, and also a George Ovey piece.

Friday and Saturday the program will be composed of "The Bait," an alluring melodrama, with William Clifford and Betty Hart, one of the most thrilling of Masterpictures De Luxe, and a "See America First" cartoon (of the same series that has caused such widespread comment in the picture world) and a Sammy Burns comedy.

FIDDLERS' CONVENTION TO BE BIGGEST EVER

Entries received for the fifth annual convention of the Georgia Old-time Fiddlers' association indicate that by far the largest number of contestants who ever met on the stage will try for the state championship next week. Nearly every county in Georgia has entered a local champion.

News was received from Professor Alex Smart yesterday that he will be on hand to introduce the various contestants and to perform on his famous melodeon. Professor Smart, who was the feature of the convention last year, has been teaching singing schools in the mountains all winter, and said he might bring a few of his "likliest scholars" along. The convention will open at the Auditorium next Wednesday night, and continue through Saturday night.

Tenth Anniversary Of Shaerith Israel Will Be Celebrated

The tenth anniversary of the founding of Congregation Shaerith Israel, at 302 East Hunter street, will be celebrated Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock with appropriate exercises. A number of speakers will participate in the program on this occasion.

FARMERS' UNION LOCAL IS FORMED AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., January 21.—(Special.) A local of the Georgia Farmers' union was formed at the State College of Agriculture yesterday afternoon by President J. J. Brown, of the state organization, who made an address to the assembled farmers of this county and section and the large number of demonstration agents who are here for their annual ten days' institute at the college. Among the charter members of the Clarke county local are Dr. Soule, president of the college, and other members of the faculty.

LIFE COMPANIES WANT LUSITANIA INDEMNITY

Washington, January 21.—Notice that several life insurance companies will claim a part of any indemnity Germany may pay for the loss of life on the Lusitania has raised a question for which state department officials say there is no precedent. Heirs of many of the Lusitania victims already have presented claims. Final decision as to whether insurance company claims on account of policies paid out shall take precedence will rest with Secretary Lansing.

Officials pointed out today that where insurance was paid on cargo indemnity for its destruction usually went to the insurance companies, but it was said there were many arguments in justification of a different course in the case of loss of life.

Germany has offered indemnity for the Lusitania victims, but acceptance by the United States hinges upon the outcome of negotiations for the settlement of all issues growing out of the tragedy.

HOUSE VOTES $300,000 TO FIGHT CITRUS CANKER

Washington, January 21.—The house today agreed to the emergency appropriation of $300,000 to be used in fighting the citrus canker.

The appropriation was approved during consideration of the urgent deficiency bill.

The work will be started in Florida. The campaign will be made by the department of agriculture and more funds will be provided in the agricultural appropriation bill.

The bill, carrying appropriations of approximately $12,500,000 passed the house without roll call.

New York, January 21.—There was a renewal of scattering liquidation at the opening of the cotton market today, but the selling was much less active than earlier in the week and prices steadied up, with March advancing from 12.18 to 12.32 and closing at 12.31. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 8 to 13 points.

Liverpool did not meet yesterday's local decline, but after opening 4 points higher to 2 points lower, active months here sold about 1 to 4 points under last night's closing figures, with May Contracts touching 12.42, July 12.57 and October 12.52. The differences between New York and Liverpool widened to within 7 or 10 points of the recent record on this decline, and houses with Liverpool connections were buyers of March and July. This combined with local trade buying of the near months served to check the decline, and as soon as it was seen that less long cotton was coming on the market some of the recent sellers turned for cover.

The demand was not general or particularly active, but there was comparatively little cotton for sale, while the advance was encouraged by talk of bullish ginning figures, bullish spot advices from the south and rumors that many of the contracts recently liquidated had been taken out of the market by trade interests, or spinners. Prices gradually worked higher in consequence, May contracts selling up to 12.57 on covering, accompanied by reports that southern spot holders had withdrawn offerings at the decline, and that a considerable part of the cotton sold here during the week had been taken out of the market by trade interests or spinners. Reports from the domestic goods trade have indicated continued activity and southern advices have reported a demand from both domestic spinners and exporters in the interior spot markets during the week, particularly in the case of low grades. Private ginning returns are said to show a ginning of only 107,000 bales for the first half of the month, or the smallest on record for that period.

New Orleans Rises 11 to 14 Points.

New Orleans, La., January 21.—After a short period of weakness in the early trading the cotton market showed firmness today and mounted to higher levels, standing at a net gain of 12 to 15 points at the best. Moderate buying served to support values; little of the bear pressure of preceding sessions of the week was in evidence, which caused bullish traders to claim that the market was oversold. It was quite generally stated that the technical position of the market had improved as the result of recent liquidation and the aggressive short selling which have recently featured the trading. The market closed at a net gain of 11 to 14 points.

Better cables than due caused an improvement of 2 to 4 points in the first few minutes of trading, but this was quickly wiped out by a burst of selling, and the more active months were sent a point under the close of yesterday. Sellers of yesterday commenced to realize at this level and their buying quickly assumed larger proportions than the ring could supply. The market improved and held a steady undertone throughout the remainder of the session.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged. Sales on the spot 1,885 bales; to arrive 575. Good ordinary 10.43; strict good ordinary 10.99; low middling 11.63; strict low middling 11.88; middling 12.13; strict middling 12.38; good middling 12.70; strict good middling 12.94. Receipts 5,267; stock 447,317.

Sugar.

New York, January 21.—While there was no change in the local market for raw sugar, trading was more active than on any previous day during the week, the day's business being placed at over 300,000 bags for January, February and March shipment at 3⅜c cost and freight, equal to 4.77 for centrifugal. Refiners who seem to be in need of supplies for some time to come, owing to the active demand for refined for both local and foreign account, bought freely, while holders in Cuba seemed willing to accept prevailing prices owing to the favorable prospects for the present crop and the increased grinding of mills.

The market closed firm at 4.77 for centrifugal, 4.00 for molasses and 3⅜c for Cubas, cost and freight.

The local market for refined sugar was firm, with quite an active demand reported from all sections of the country, as well as further inquiries from exporters.

In futures a firmer tone prevailed early on a little commission house buying, but the rather more favorable advices from Cuba led to a little selling pressure and prices at the close were 2 points lower to 2 points net higher.

Sales, 11,450 tons.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 21.—Cotton goods markets were strong today with a rising tendency. Yarns were firm on high levels, in some instances about as high as any quoted in the past nine years. Silks were active, with labor scarcity in mill centers preventing deliveries.

STOCKS QUIVER IN FEVERISH UPTURN

War Specialties Show Most Gains, With Smaller Gains for Scattered Sundry Listed Shares.

New York, January 21.—Stocks made irregular recoveries today from their weakness of the previous session, but the movement was cautious and tentative at best. Dealings were moderate, with frequent lapses into extreme dullness, but prices were well maintained until the final hour, when leading shares forfeited a considerable part of the gains. Much of today's buying originated with the short interest, which probably felt impelled to cover because of the firmness of investment shares.

Interest continued to center around United States Steel by reason of the approach of the quarterly meeting. Steel's course indicated doubt of any dividend action, but conservative opinion leans toward a partial restoration of disbursements on the common shares. Steel was heavy at the outset, but advanced a total of 1⅛ points to 84⅝, falling back to 83⅞ in the final hour, and closing at 84⅛, a net gain of ¾.

Bethlehem Steel was inactive, opening at 470, a loss of 9 points, but closing at 484, a net gain of 5. Other war stocks were strong for a time, material gains being made by Crucible Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, New York Air Brake and Baldwin Locomotive, and the motor group as a whole strengthened to a marked degree.

Metal stocks responded to what was called a "runaway market" in the metal trade, with gains of 1 to almost 3 points. Oils, especially Texas company and Mexican Petroleum, made up much of yesterday's reversal, and Mercantile Marine preferred and fertilizers were in moderate request at higher levels.

Manipulative tactics were again resorted to in several of the high-priced specialties, notably United States Industrial Alcohol, which made an extreme advance of 20⅛ to 169, a new record, much of the gain being made in the final dealings. International Nickel, American Coal Products and Cuban-American Sugar, the latter also at a new high record on its rise of 3⅛ to 187½, comprised the other spectacular features. Rails made comparatively little headway, but showed underlying firmness. Baltimore and Ohio was again first of the leading roads to submit December earnings, the statement disclosing a net gain of $805,000. Bank clearings fell off slightly, but local institutions are likely to make a considerable cash gain on the week.

Bonds were firm, but without special features. Total sales, par value, were $3,825,000.

United States bonds were unchanged.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF BUSINESS SITUATION

New York, January 21.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"Requirements are so extensive that productive and transportation facilities continue inadequate to meet current demands. Congestion of freight still prevails at the seaboard and, though railroads have made additions to rolling stock, domestic deliveries are increasingly difficult.

"This condition tends to further enhance the cost of commodities, while industrial expansion is checked at several points through inability to obtain raw materials. Except in isolated cases, there is no evidence that high prices are as yet lessening consumption, and it is significant that the prevailing disposition is still to contract ahead.

"Many traveling salesmen are sending in larger orders than usual and in some sections, notably in the southwest, forward business is developing with exceptional rapidity. This not only indicates depleted merchandise stocks in distributing channels, but also affords convincing proof of general confidence in the future. All signs point to a very active spring trade.

"Larger expenditures by the people are reflected in steadily improving mercantile collections and the number of failures diminishes, the commercial mortality being much lighter than a year ago. Without exception important statistical records make highly gratifying comparisons with those of earlier periods.

"Weekly bank clearings, $3,987,966,334."

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, January 21.—(Special.)—The cotton market acted pretty much as expected today. The decline of the two previous days had stopped the sale of spots in the south and therefore the spot merchants who sold cotton to spinners filled their engagements by buying across the ring. The minute, however, they secure the spot cotton these contracts will be sold out again. The week-end movement is very light, the into-sight being only 273,000 bales, which brings the season's total up to 8,250,000 bales. The mills' takings were fairly good, amounting to 336,000, which brings the season's total up to 6,837,000. This leaves the visible supply only a little more than 4,500,000 bales, the smallest visible supply known on this date in ten years except on January 20, 1910 and 1911. The market need not be afraid of the visible supply, as that is either directly or indirectly sold, but it is the unmarketed part of the crop which is slowly, but surely, offering itself for sale that prevents an advance.

It is easy to see that European spinners and importers are not going to be able to carry their usual year-end stock of cotton. Not, perhaps, because of freight room, for that problem is solving itself, but because of the question of money to carry a stock with. The final mills' takings for this year look like they might foot up 13,750,000 bales. Although the mills of the world will use more cotton than 13,750,000 bales, the balance will be absorbed from their stock. We think that really today leaves the market without a short interest and should any further advance occur tomorrow we advise the sale of cotton, as we expect to see the trend of prices next week to begin to turn toward lower levels.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, January 21.—(Special.)—While liquidation was rather liberal in this market early today, prices improved slightly owing to buying on the part of Liverpool and local spot interests. The selling of the past week appears to have run its course for the present and as the contracts went into the hands of the trade the market should improve temporarily, however, the larger stocks in this country and moderate exports discourage extensive buying for long account.

JAY, BOND & CO.

New York, January 21.—(Special.)—Small declines were registered by the official spot markets yesterday but whether this is the result of uneasiness on the part of holders is very hard to say, especially in view of the reports received as to the constant demand by foreign spinners.

The amount of cotton in the south need not all be moved this year, and according to best advices will not all come on the market.

A good portion of it is to be drawn out by good prices. The farmers control the price at this time, but the quantity for European account to be shipped after the war and that held by interests counting on a big peace boom may easily reduce the available supply to an amount inadequate to supply the requirements of the domestic and foreign demands. Sentiment may hurry about somewhat lower values, but we have no faith in them and believe purchase will return good profits.

SHEARSON, HAMMILL & CO.

New Orleans, January 21.—(Special.)—Liverpool did not respond to the easiness apparent in America yesterday and this, coupled with the anticipation of bullish week-end figures, inspired recent sellers to cover, with the result that a fair recovery has taken place.

The deplorable condition of shipping and the faint hope which is held out for any improvement in this connection in the near future have not only discouraged bull speculation, but have encouraged considerable bearish sentiment. The latter is increased by the expectation that present prices will occasion a large increase in acreage and that spot holders will weaken as the new crop season is approached. It would seem, therefore, that the extent of the exports and the attitude of spot holders will be the most important factors in determining the course of values in the near future.

C. P. ELLIS & CO.

New York, January 21.—(Special.)—Opening lower, both markets (Liverpool and here) improved to the close. The European market under the continued large takings by Manchester and the American markets under the stronger statistical position as a result of small into-sight and large deliveries to the mills. Our New England mills, because of the freight blockade, are having difficulty in obtaining the cotton they bought in the south.

Although the markets closed higher, the local feeling continues bearish, and we think the short interest has been increased during the past fortnight, largely because of the uncertainties over the freight rate situation.

HUBBARD BROS & CO.

New Orleans, January 21.—(Special.)—Yesterday's sellers who were principally room traders, covered today, owing to good Liverpool, trade buying and bullish week-end statistics, also due to the fact that trade interests were not disposed to follow yesterday's decline. There has been a considerable change in sentiment, however, which is veering to the bear side on account of restricted exports and tightening of the blockade, together with the fear that present prices may induce the farmers to increase their acreage in spite of the fact that the south is carrying such a large amount of cotton, which it is likely to be compelled to do for some time. As the new planting season approaches there seems to be less chance of inducing bull speculation and it is felt that without it the trade demand will be insufficient to take care of offerings.

ALL CHICAGO LIST AGAIN ON UPSWING

Wheat Scores New High Record, Which, With Other Grain Rises, Carries Provisions Upward, Also.

Chicago, January 21.—Brisk European demand coincident with predictions that a severe cold wave would sweep over the domestic winter crop belt forced the wheat market to the highest prices yet this season today. The close was strong 2⅝c to 3⅛c net advance, with may $1.32¼@1.32⅜ and July $1.25⅝. Corn gained ⅜@⅝ to 1c and oats ⅝ to ⅝c. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to a rise of 52½.

Except for a brief setback soon after the opening wheat showed unvarying strength throughout the day. Buyers found their first incentive in higher quotations at Liverpool, where there was said to be an urgent call for supplies, especially on the part of millers. Cable dispatches from Great Britain explained that contrary to expectations the clearances from Argentina and Australia remained light, and that in view of the extraordinary tightness of vessel rates the chance of free shipments from the southern hemisphere was remote.

Meanwhile advices from Minneapolis said that for the first time in six months the government of Holland was negotiating for American flour, and that bids also were being received from the Italian government and from London. According to the latest estimates, the export sales of wheat today wholly aside from flour amounted to fully 1,000,000 bushels.

In connection with the forecasts of a cold wave, reports were received that snow protection in much of the domestic winter wheat region had melted away, and that water standing in the fields threatened serious damage in case of unusually low temperatures and of other consequences likely to follow. A leading authority said that so far only scattered reports of winter killing had come in.

Corn responded to the wheat strength. Country offerings were smaller and eastern demand slow.

Oats showed independent firmness. The reason was demand from the seaboard.

Provisions, although at first weak, rallied because of the upturn in the grain market. A feature was said to be the excellent call from Canada.

MILITARY SERVICE FOR ALL AMERICANS

Urged by Senator Chamberlain as Only Solution of Defense Problem—United States Menaced on All Sides.

Washington, January 21.—Universal military service was proclaimed as the only real solution of America's national defense problem tonight by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military committee, in a speech before the National Security League. Recognizing that the people were not ready for such a step, however, the senator said Secretary Garrison's continental army plan might be utilized to provide the force which the country must have to guarantee its security as a world power, protect the Panama canal and be ready to repel possible aggression from either Europe or Japan.

Senator Chamberlain's speech came at the close of a day and night crowded with plea after plea for the arming of the nation. Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, of New York, who presided over the night session, threw the league into a tumult of applause by demanding adequate protection for the country's metropolis. Senator Phelan, of California, spoke of "the Pacific peril" and appealed for preparedness to meet possible attack from Japan.

Day sessions of the league were featured by speeches of Henry A. Wise Wood, of New York; George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, and Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, who criticised the administration's defense program as inadequate, and by Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, retired, who defended it.

Chamberlain's Views.

Senator Chamberlain expressed the opinion that universal military service offered the best solution of preparedness problems, but that the program outlined by the administration might be hammered into acceptable form.

"I am not going to discuss the navy," said Senator Chamberlain. "I want you to remember, however, that while it is conceded that our navy is deficient, is not so much because congress has failed to keep it up to a reasonable state of preparation, but because the other nations of the earth have outstripped America in the race that she ought to win. We are not prepared at sea. We have not done our whole duty, and I do hope that in the very near future our navy, instead of occupying the fourth place, will occupy at least somewhere near the first place amongst the navies of the world.

"If there had been no war in Europe I would still say there was necessity for preparedness for national defense. The American brain and the American energy and the American money built a canal which absolutely changed the geography of the world. That fact alone was sufficient to have compelled the American patriotic citizen to have seen to it that our country, having changed the map of the world, should always be in a position where no other power on the face of the earth could change the handwriting of America across the Isthmus of Panama.

America for Americans.

"But that is not all. The ringing message of Monroe to the congress of the United States in 1823 served notice upon the powers of the earth that America was to be kept intact for Americans. There was no pussy-footed diplomacy about that method.

"If we intend to do what Monroe said we ought to do, it is our duty to see to it that our country is prepared to carry out the obligations to the Central and South American republics.

"Now, what is the use of our refusing or failing to state the belief that it is in us, because we are afraid of making somebody mad. When Monroe sent his message to congress in 1823 there was not any fear of offending the combined nations of the world. And after the civil war when the president of the United States sent a message to France that she must get out of Mexico, there was not any fear of offending France.

"Lincoln was not afraid to send a message to the congress of the United States when Sumter was fired on. It led to war, where brother was arrayed against brother and father against son, and our country was drenched in blood. And yet, my friends, if we had been prepared when that war broke out, instead of covering a period of four years, almost bankrupting our country and compelling us to pay a pension roll now of $160,000,000 a year, it would have ended in sixty or ninety days.

"There is not a country in Europe that feels kindly to us today and we know it. There is no use for us to try to disguise it. So don't let any of us fool ourselves with the idea that any of the powers of Europe feel too kindly to us to wage an aggressive war on us after the present war is over.

Japan and the Pacific.

"So much for the European side of this. Now let us look over on the other side. They say we ought not to talk about these things. Why not? There is too much of a disposition nowadays to conceal the truth from the people. With that feeling in my heart and that thought in my mind, I call your attention to the Orient. On the Pacific coast, where I live, we look across the water and see a powerful, war-like people that in fifty years have developed into not only the most war-like nation on the face of the earth, but the most industrious people on the face of the earth, and I glory in the magnificent progress they have made. I have not in my heart anything but the kindest of feelings toward them.

"But there are racial differences and distinctions which will always prevent these great powers from combining socially. She does not like us; there is no question about that. A few years ago we had the humiliating spectacle of the president of the United States begging California to admit the Japanese children to the schools of the Pacific coast notwithstanding the fact that boys 18 or 20 years of age were asked to be admitted into the schools with little girls, children of 8 or 10 or 11 years of age. The California people did not submit to it. They had rather be driven into the sea, my friends, than to submit to it.

Only the Fool Never Changes.

"A year ago the president was opposed to any and all preparedness. Now they are blaming him for changing his mind. My friends, there is nobody but a fool who never changes his mind. I beseech you not to criticise those who are trying to do something but to help them solve a difficult problem.

"This continental plan of Mr. Garrison does not meet with my approval, but I do not say that I am going around and telling people that it ought not to be enacted. I believe the solution for this is universal military training, but I know that the people have not been educated up to it yet. Until it is enacted there will be no proper reserve to draw upon in case of necessity.

"It may that this continental army plan, indorsed by some of the most distinguished soldiers in the army, can be hammered into shape. It can be given a trial and if it does not work, the American people will know it and then they will be more nearly prepared to come to military training."

Senator Phelan, of California, declared he had been reliably informed that the recent presence of Japanese vessels in Mexican Pacific waters was not to aid a stranded Japanese warship, as stated, but for the purpose of making a demonstration in anticipation of an American protest against Japan's demands on China.

Japan Is Aggressive.

"Japan is aggressive," Senator Phelan said. "She seeks a lodgment on the Mexican coast. It is rumored today that her troops are in that country. She has had a warship in the waters down there presumably crippled and has sent over a large number of her warships in order to take the crippled vessel, so-called, off the shoals. But I have it on the best authority that the vessel was not crippled at all and that at the very time Japan was making this demand under the twelve articles against China and feared American protest—which was made. And that fleet was over here. I verily believe, to make a demonstration; but happily for us (and America is singularly fortunate in all its affairs) other nations like England and France joined in the protest against the demands made by Japan upon China; and because our protest was so fortified that fleet withdrew from our coast.

"We were not prepared even to meet the fragment of the Japanese fleet, which could have put our cities under tribute and sailed away.

Country Not Safeguarded.

"Our country is not sufficiently safeguarded upon the Pacific coast. We harbor no ill-will toward our neighbors. The Oriental people have a most excellent field to exploit and there is no need that they should come to this continent. We should impress upon them politely and in diplomatic language that their field, their zone of influence, is in Asiatic waters, while ours is here on this continent, and we wish to be let alone."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, sent a letter to the league, read at tonight's session, in which he reiterated his recent assertion that organized labor favored an adequate national preparedness policy which would insure equal opportunity to all enlisting in the contemplated naval and military forces.

Eddie Ross' Banjo Playing Big Hit of Minstrel Show

"The banjo being at best an imperfect instrument, one can hardly expect an ordinary human being to play it perfectly." Thus spoke Eddie Ross, with the addendo: "In fact, heaven is probably the only place where it is played perfectly, and there may be some of us who will miss a performance there."

Then Mr. Ross proceeded to give what is in all likelihood the nearest approach to celestial perfection.

'Lasses White, George Peduzzi and Eddie Ross—and the greatest of these is Eddie! These three constitute, in a literal sense, the staff of life of Neil O'Brien's minstrels, which opened at the Atlanta theater last night.

Neil himself of course, is the dean of the outfit, and his work was greatly enjoyed by that big following which will always be his as long as he is in the minstrel business.

Ross is on more intimate terms with a banjo than any artist—that's what he is—who has sojourned within our gates for quite some duration of time. Under his facile fingers the instrument laughs and weeps and syncopates and exhibits most startling eccentricities. It seems all but endowed with intellect. Ross' banjo solos were quite the big hit of the show, and all this is said with the full realization that Eddie is no slacker as a monologuist.

'Lasses White, however, is the real exponent of the old-time minstrel with the O'Brien show. His dialect is faithful; his lines are humorous and reasonably innocent of the makeshift of puns; his stage bearing and mannerisms are characterful. The fact that the ridiculous accentuation of the last words of his sentences are reminiscent of the late George Evans is all the more pleasing.

Peduzzi comes in as an unusual female impersonator.

To quote the program, "the performance, begins with minstrelsy's traditional first part." The songs are fairly good and several voices rank for the same qualification.

"The Penny Arcade" and "Darktown's Bravest Fighting the Flames" kill most of the time of the second part, which is hilariously relieved by Eddie Ross' monologue.

There will be a matinee this afternoon and the last performance will be tonight.

NED M'INTOSH.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Louis Simon, conceded to be one of the funniest men on the stage, has been booked by Manager George H. Hickman to top the Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth next week. Simon will appear with a splendid cast in "The New Coachman," one of the funniest comedies in vaudeville. This week the headline act is offered by Alexander Carr, one of the greatest character actors Atlanta has ever seen, who appears in a wonderfully human sketch called "An April Shower." "The Big City Four," a quartet of exceptional abilities, is another feature of this week's bill. There are five other splendid acts in addition to the first run Bray cartoons, now a regular feature of the Forsyth program.

"Destruction."

(At the Strand.)

Theda Bara will return to the Strand theater today in what is said to be her wickedest part. The picture, "Destruction," was recently shown at the Strand and met with much favorable comment, not only as an artistic production, but for the able cast which presented it. It is an industrial drama of vitally interesting theme, containing situations without number in which the principals rise to great dramatic heights. The scenic effects are wonderful, showing interiors of mammoth steel plants in operation and many other factory scenes where realistic types are introduced. The spectacular fire at the finish of the picture is a clever piece of stagecraft.

"The Ragamuffin."

(At the Grand.)

"The Ragamuffin," an appealing story in which Blanche Sweet has the leading role, is the first run Paramount offering at the Grand today. Assisting Miss Sweet in this delightful play are such stars as Tom Forman, Minnette Barrett and others. The Grand will be open from 2 until 11 p. m. Sunday for the benefit of war sufferers in Belgium and France. "The Reign of Terror," a powerful and intensely interesting Pathe production, depicting the imprisonment and death of Marie Antoinette, queen of France, in the great revolution, will be the offering. The program will be augmented by news pictures and other features.

"Double Trouble."

(At the Vaudette.)

Douglas Fairbanks, clever and attractive, appears at his best in "Double Trouble," the Griffith production, at the Vaudette today. Fairbanks is supported by Margery Wilson and Gladys Brockwell, the latter taking the part of a "devilish" strawberry blonde, who adds to Fairbanks' troubles. The comedy today is "A Janitor's Wife's Temptation," with Fred Mace and pretty Marta Golden. Mace loses his beefsteak breakfast and his wife falls in love with an artist. Many graceful models ornament this picture.

"The Warning."

(At Alamo No. 2.)

On account of the great many requests made during the last two days, while thousands were seeing "The Warning" being shown at the Alamo No. 2, Manager Murray decided last night to present the picture another day. He has announced that it will be held over for today's showing.

The part of a man who, through being a "good fellow" and his own worst enemy, goes through a literal hell before he learns his lesson, is admirably portrayed by Henry Kolker in "The Warning." The story is told in allegorical form, and aside from the poignant interest which attaches to the theme and the way in which it is worked out, is one of the most striking examples of screen artistry which has ever been presented. Dore's illustrations of the "Inferno" of Dante have been drawn upon in a realistic manner and the grip which the picture take upon the minds of those who see them is not easily loosened.

There is no attempt at preaching a sermon in connection with the theme, but with consummate skill the warning is conveyed, and there is no mistaking it. Some remarkable photographic effects are shown, the night side of New York life, a series of pictures of the "great white way" having been taken at night, with the flashing, winking, gyrating, glittering electric illumination furnishing its own light to the camera, being only a portion of the groups. Even he who runs may read the story, and he will have to run fast and far to escape reading it. Mr. Kolker has visualized the downfall of a man who gives way to "boon companionship" and its logical results with a vividness which cannot fail to impress, not only by its realism, but by the beauty of its presentation.

The costumes of the denizens of the underworld were specially made by the largest costuming concern in the United States and required twenty-two expert dressers in attendance at the studio to apply and remove the intricate and delicate fabrics that went to form the web-like effects.

Some of the scenes in which the devil appears as a spirit form required twenty-two exposures. The camera was set in concrete, the soles of the player's feet whitened with quick drying paint so that he could make the same moves time after time, and so that the scenes would register perfectly and novel and sensational situations would blend exactly with the dissolves. It is an exceptional production in every way.

Mary Pickford.

(At the Georgian.)

Mary Pickford, the star of the Famous Players' Film company, has added another striking characterization to her notable repertoire of screen successes in Frances Hodgson Burnett's great drama of girlish hope and optimism, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," which will be today's presentation at the Georgian theater. It is the story of an ambitious girl waif's unfaltering faith and ultimate triumph of her reward for goodness and of the achievement of her dreams right at the moment when the future appeared blackest. Mary Pickford portrays the role of Glad, the weird, but beautiful, child of the London slums, who later rises to fame and happiness and social prominence. Adapted music will be rendered during the drama by Whitney Hubner's orchestra that has done so much to add to the Georgian's popularity.

DETECTIVES HOLD MRS. HAZEL ROSS AND TWO OTHERS

Mrs. Hazel Ross, of 31 Gilmer street, wife of V. P. Ross, one of the last persons to see J. H. Smith, whose disappearance has been surrounded by mystery, was arrested by Detectives Shaw and Rosser on suspicion last night in connection with the report of the robbery of an aged man whose name has not been ascertained.

Mrs. Ross is the wife of the proprietor of a delicatessen and came into prominence in connection with the Smith disappearance when she stated that she was with him drinking whisky and beer shortly before his absence was discovered.

With her last night was arrested Lonnie Blair, 15 years of age, who gave the same address, and Louise Hawthorne, a colored maid, who is said to be employed at the Ross home.

The three are held under suspicion, an old man stating to the police that he was taken to a downtown hotel and robbed of a watch which he valued at $100 while he was forced to sign a check for $10 in favor of Mrs. Ross. He maintains that he was taken to the hotel by Mrs. Ross and Blair.

As the result of intoxication or the effects of being drugged, the old man was unable to give his name. He will be questioned further in regard to the case Saturday.

ESTIMATES ON BOOTY GIVEN BY THE TEUTONS

London, January 21.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News says that the total booty of the Teutonic allies during seventeen months of war is summed up in Vienna as follows:

"Nearly 3,000,000 prisoners, 10,000 guns, 40,000 machine guns, while 470,000 square kilometers of enemy territory has been occupied."

Henry James Ill.

London, January 21.—Henry James, the American author who took the oath of allegiance as a British subject last year, has been seriously ill for several months, and his physicians state that his condition is not improving. The chronic disease from which he suffers has been complicated by two light strokes of apoplexy.

Matthew Woll, of Chicago, president of the International Photo-Engravers' union, arrived in Atlanta at a late hour last night to participate in the jubilee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, which will be held at the Bijou theater Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The jubilee is in honor of the quarter-century anniversary. An elaborate program, consisting of instrumental, orchestral and vocal numbers, with character readings, a big movie drama, and an address by Mr. Woll will furnish entertainment and instruction to as many of the 4,000 members of the Atlanta Federation of Trades as can pack the Bijou theater.

Mr. Woll will tell of the American labor forward movement at the Sunday mass meeting.

Jennings Relates Story Of Outlaw's Conversion At Death Bed of Mother

"God's Redemption" or "The Outlaw's Mother" was the subject of a strong sermon by Al Jennings at the Tabernacle Baptist church last night which was followed by a number of conversions.

The sermon was based on an experience in the life of the former bandit in which he took a young outlaw to his mother's bedside to receive her dying request that he reform.

"That boy's mother didn't want him to come to her because she was afraid they would get him," said Jennings, "but I managed it so he could tell his mother good-bye and elude the officers at the same time. It is one of my happiest recollections in that that mother's dying prayer resulted in the conversion of the boy who is now leading the life of a respected citizen in Mexico."

No services will be conducted Saturday, it was announced Friday night, although Jennings will occupy the pulpit at the morning and evening services of Sunday.

SCHWAB ACTS AS HOST TO "CARNEGIE BOYS"

New York, January 21.—Charles M. Schwab was host at the annual dinner here tonight of "Carnegie's Boys"—a group of several dozen men who grew up with and became enriched by the American steel industry. Andrew Carnegie, who has been president of the organization since it was formed in 1902, is in Florida and could not attend.

The dinner was held at Mr. Schwab's mansion on Riverside drive. Thirty veteran steel men were present, among them William Ellis Corey, Charles W. Baker, W. C. McCausland, James Gayley and William B. Dixon. Mr. Carnegie was re-elected president; Mr. Schwab, vice president, and Charles L. Taylor, secretary and treasurer.

It was the first dinner of "Carnegie's Boys" at which Mr. Carnegie himself was not host.

SHIPMENT FORBIDDEN TO IMPROPER FILMS

Washington, January 21.—Interstate shipment of improper motion picture films would be made a penal offense by a bill introduced today by Representative Towner. Motion picture interests, which oppose the pending censorship bill, indorse the Towner bill.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The prospect of a big building permit being taken on next Monday, thereby boosting the January building operations ahead of the operations for the corresponding period of last January, is practically the only important news in either the realty or building news.

An important business lease has already been closed on a prominent Peachtree street site, close in, for the locality of this building. The lease is for a term of ten years, and the aggregate rent consideration is $55,000.

The investment in the building itself and in the property, and also the other expenditures connected with this transaction, will involve about $200,000.

Further announcements will be given in Sunday's Constitution.

Cain Street Lot Sold.

The only realty news of Friday was the announcement of a sale involving a Cain street parcel.

I. P. Bradley, of Newnan, and G. R. Black have sold to John M. Nowell a large lot on the south side of Cain street, just off Peachtree, the consideration being $38,000. The purchaser assumes a loan of $11,000.

This parcel has a frontage of 64 feet on Cain, and a depth of 202 feet, and is in line with a steady commercial development which has swept northward from the center of the city within the last few years.

Praise Constitution Story.

Real estate agents of Atlanta are still praising the good effects on the local market of the story in last Sunday's Constitution, which was published for the purpose of giving investors in local realty a true insight into actual conditions existing in the Atlanta real estate market.

All expert advices to investors were to buy real estate now—that Atlanta realty never goes low enough in value to injure anyone, and that all indications point to advances in the market in the early spring.

Realty agents say that the story has had the effect of bringing a large number of inquiries to their offices during this week. One agent reports that his office has been flooded with substantial inquiries, inquiries from which he can surely expect a large volume of good business all during the week. He attributes this increase to The Constitution's story.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WM. S. ANSLEY
Real Estate. 217 Atlanta National Bank Building.

ADVICE to owners of real estate: If you are not compelled to sell don't try to now, for if everybody wants to sell, nobody wants to buy. This holds good in anything. Real estate must be good to own, for all the insurance companies prefer to loan on it and real estate mortgages are the only securities that remained at par during the late depression, and now everybody who has money wants to loan on real estate, therefore if it is so good to loan on, it ought to be good to buy at reduced prices. 6-ROOM house and lot, fronting two streets at Kirkwood, 337 feet front on paved sidewalk, which is worth $10 front foot, besides the same frontage on another good street; lot over 300 feet deep. This property has two loans on it aggregating $2,500 and is going to be foreclosed next month. $3,600 will buy it and the land is more than worth the price. You must act quick. $3,500 WILL buy a 7-room house and lot 50x150 on one of the best streets near Grant park. This place has been taken for loan and if you are good party $300 cash and balance easy will get it.
DECATUR SACRIFICE—11 acres, partly in the town of Decatur, on main paved street and near car line with over 800 feet front. It will make ten 80-foot lots worth $1,000 each; five-year loan of $5,000. Price $4,500. What's the matter with this?
HAVE some other bargains all around. Come see me.

PROPERTY SACRIFICED
I OWN a home off Ponce de Leon avenue with 7 rooms, 2 tile baths, tile roof, etc. I will sell for $7,500. I also own a piece of north side semi-central property for which I have refused $35,000. To close out I will sell for $17,500 and make terms, as I must raise some money. Address "Owner," Box J-316, Constitution.

EXELENTO
QUININE POMADE
Made Her Hair Grow.

Maggie Berry wrote us that she was unable to comb her short, nappy
KINKY HAIR
But a few boxes of Exelento Quinine Pomade made her hair 10 inches long, and so soft and silky that she can fix it most any way she wants to.
Don't be fooled all your life by using some fake preparation which claims to straighten kinky hair. Kinky hair cannot be made straight; you are just fooling yourself by using it. You have to have hair before it can be straightened. Now this is a Hair-Grower which feeds the scalp and roots of the hair and makes the hair grow, and you can see the results by using several times. It cleans dandruff and stops Falling Hair at once. It leaves harsh, stubborn, nappy hair soft and silky. Price 25c by mail on receipt of stamps or coin.

Local Suffragists Planning Campaign To Secure Ballot

Committees Appointed in Every Ward in Atlanta to Secure Signatures to Petition to Be Filed With the City Council.

A great suffrage petition and a suffrage bureau of information were launched by the Atlanta Suffrage association following the unanimous reelection of Mrs. Amelia R. Woodall as president for the third consecutive term at the annual meeting this week in the parlors of the Hotel Ansley.

"Great impetus has been given our work by the offer of Councilman Thompson to introduce an ordinance asking for an amendment of Atlanta's city charter granting women the right to vote in city elections," said Mrs. Woodall, in her annual address.

"I have been told, that if we can obtain the signature of five thousand women eligible to vote the ordinance will be introduced. We will not stop at five thousand but will push the good work in every county in the state so we can present to the legislature a mammoth suffrage petition.

Committees Named.

Committees have been appointed in every ward to project this good work and the most important suffrage propaganda carried on is to be pushed by the following committees:

First Ward—Mrs. E. F. Ware, Mrs. May C. Moore, Mrs. S. B. Marks, Mrs. Mary Russell and Mrs. Julia Ellington.

Second Ward—Mrs. E. A. Matthews, Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, Mrs. Albert Grossman, Mrs. E. L. Brewer, Dr. Simon Katzoff.

Fourth Ward—Mrs. Alice C. Daniel, Mrs. Henry Sanford, Mrs. C. Ashley, Mrs. R. S. Hilley and R. E. George.

Fifth Ward—Mrs. Fred Ingram, Mrs. Sallie Saul, Mrs. Mary Mapes, Dr. George Beattie, Miss Annie Applewhite.

Sixth Ward—Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Mrs. Sara Hailey, Dr. Frank Peck, Miss Stella Lynch, Dr. J. Wade Conkling.

Seventh Ward—Mrs. Harry Stearnes, Mrs. J. W. Armistead, Mrs. L. F. Beauvais, Mrs. Jerome Jones, Mrs. Lucian Harris.

Eighth Ward—Mrs. C. E. Crease, Miss Ray Kilen, Mrs. Charles Davis, Miss Rosa Lee, Philip Weltner.

Ninth Ward—Miss Katherine Koch, Mrs. S. D. Warnock, Mrs. C. W. McClure, Mrs. C. J. Manos, Mrs. L. Netherland.

Tenth Ward—Mrs. C. Boles, Mrs. J. L. Gillette, Mrs. Katie Reeves, Mrs. Lillian Warner, Miss Annie Larkin.

Committees Will Co-operate.

The above named committees will co-operate with the central committee comprising the members of all suffrage associations.

When consulted regarding the legality of an ordinance allowing the women of Atlanta to vote, Leonard J. Grossman, counsel for the Georgia Woman Suffrage association, prepared an opinion which set out that as "stockholders" of the municipal corporation, "The citizens of Atlanta have a right to determine the qualifications of voters within the city's corporate limits, providing the legislature would grant an amendment to the city charter of Atlanta, said amendment to be ratified following its passage by the legislature by the men of Atlanta in an election called for that purpose."

Other officers elected at the annual meeting included: Mrs. H. C. Buchholz, first vice president; Mrs. C. W. McClure, second vice president; Mrs. John W. Rowlett, corresponding secretary; Miss Eugenia Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. James M. Savits, treasurer; Miss Bernice Buchholz, auditor.

Following the election of officers a new feature was added to the campaign of education and prizes in gold were announced by a committee which are working out details of a prize essay contest open to the boys and girls of the county at large.

Pimples and Skin Eruptions Danger Signs of Bad Blood

It May Mean Eczema, Scrofula—The First Sign of Inherited Blood Disease

Pimples, scaly itching skin, rashes, burning sensations and Scrofula denote with unfailing certainty a debilitated, weakened and impure state of the blood. The trouble may have been in your blood from birth, but no matter how you were infected, you must treat it through the blood. It is a blood disease. You must use S. S. S., the standard blood tonic for 50 years, if you expect relief. For purifying the system, nothing is equal to it. The action of S. S. S. is to cleanse the blood. It soaks through the system direct to the seat of the trouble—acting as an antidote to neutralize the blood poisons. It revitalizes the red blood corpuscles, increases the flow so that the blood can properly perform its physical work. The dull sluggish feeling leaves you—the complexion clears up. Even long standing cases respond promptly. But you must take S. S. S. Drugs and substitutes won't do. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. Insist on the original. If you need expert advice, write to Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

THOUSANDS of people, younger and older, are reading, or will read, this new book, Prudence of the Parsonage, a homely, refreshing story of family life. It is as true to a healthy human nature and habits of today as Little Women was in its day.

It is a family book of the best sort, exactly the thing to read aloud in the home circle. There are five children, all girls, to bring up; and Prudence, the oldest, does the mothering. The exploits and adventures keep one on the jump; the table bubbles over with the humor of a typical American family, and a pretty love story is the climax. —Sunday-School Times

FOUL PLAY THEORY DROPPED BY POLICE

"I Think Smith Skipped Town to Avoid Paying Some Debts, or That He Is Off Somewhere Drunk," Declares Chief Lanford.

That J. H. Smith, real estate dealer of 17½ Walton street, who is now missing, is not the victim of foul play, but that he had left town secretly to escape obligations here and purposely "planted" his room to give the appearance that he had met with violence, or that he is off somewhere drunk, are the two theories on which detectives are now working.

"I think that Smith either is off somewhere drunk, or that he skipped town to keep from paying some of his debts," said Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, when talking of the case to a representative of The Constitution Friday afternoon.

"Knowing the man like we do, and also having information of his actions in other places, we believe that the theory of his leaving town is the right one. I also understand that there are some warrants which were to be served on him," said the chief. "He might have heard of those and left the city."

Not the Right Name.

Although the officers say they are confident that certain troubles of Smith were responsible for his having left this city, a rigid search is still being maintained to find traces of the missing man.

Friday morning Miss Essie Miles was again cross-examined by Detectives Moore and Waggoner in an effort to learn further of Smith's business affairs while in Atlanta. Miss Miles was unable to throw any further light on the actions of her employer, and could tell but very little of his doings in Atlanta.

Investigations have shown, according to Chief Lanford, that several bad checks have been passed here by Smith, and that he was in debt at several places over the city.

J. B. McConnell, of Nos. 1 and 3 North Broad street, writer of the second note found in the real estate agent's office Thursday night, told a Constitution reporter Friday afternoon that Smith had given him several bad checks.

Mr. McConnell also stated that he had loaned Smith money, but that it had always been paid back.

Was to Buy Farm.

He, too, had been shown a better by Smith, he said, in which a brother in Tennessee was to buy a farm for the consideration of $16,000. The money for the farm was to be paid in annual installments, the first of January for four years. That would give Smith the $4,000 which he was said to have had when last seen.

W. M. Jones, the young man arrested on suspicion of knowing something of Smith's whereabouts, was released from headquarters Friday when it was proven to Detectives Moon, Waggoner, Davis and Davis that further than being in a fight with Smith, he and his brother knew nothing of Smith's disappearance.

T. R. Mathews, automobile salesman residing in Kirkwood, stated to a Constitution reporter that he had taken an order from Smith for an automobile two weeks ago. He also said that at that time he was talking to Scott about the machine, the latter was in possession of a draft for $4,000 which he said at the time was from a brother in Tennessee. Mr. Mathews ordered the machine for the real estate dealer and it was to be delivered in Atlanta within the next few days.

Miss Wilda Taylor.

DIPLOMATIC DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, January 21.—Diplomats representing the entente allies and twenty-eight neutral nations gathered at the white house tonight for the first of the two formal dinners arranged by the president and Mrs. Wilson in honor of members of the diplomatic corps. The second dinner, to be given next Thursday night, will be attended by the ambassador of Germany, the charge d'affaires of Austria-Hungary and Turkey, the minister of Bulgaria, and the same neutral diplomats present tonight.

J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, dean of the Washington diplomatic corps, and Mme. Jusserand occupied the seats of honor next to the president and Mrs. Wilson. The other guests were arranged around the tables in accordance with their rank. Argentina, Greece and Colombia were represented by charges de'affaires, the heads of the missions being away from the city.

The dinner was the first affair of its kind given in Washington since the outbreak of the European war.

CHURCH IS CROWDED FOR MORALITY PLAY

So Great Was the Demand for Seats That "Starry Way" Will Be Repeated Sunday.

The initial production of "The Starry Way," the morality play at the Unitarian church last night, was a great success. This was forecasted by the large crowd that began to file into the church as early as 7 o'clock, an hour and fifteen minutes before the scheduled time for the curtain to rise. Fully 300 people packed the small church, and more than that were turned away.

Howard Cole announced to all those who could not get into the church that the play would be rehearsed at the church on Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Special invitations will not be required for admittance to this performance. First come, first served will be the rule.

It developed last night that "The Starry Way" is an Atlanta-written play, the authoress, Mrs. Alice Holdship Ware, being a member of the Unitarian church. Her husband, Edward T. Ware, a teacher in one of the local colleges, starred in one of the principal male parts.

"The Starry Way" is primarily a strong Unitarian play—one based on Unitarian ideals and principles—but its appeal stretches far beyond the narrow pale of any special church creed. Its moral is a universal lesson.

Dr. Hugh Conklin, pastor of the church, opened the play by the following lines:

"I bid you welcome to this house of God. Here you will find peace, and I hope that you will learn the life that leads among the stars—The Starry Way."

As for the cast of characters much could be said. There was real talent displayed, and much credit is due Mrs. William Claer Spiker for the production of the play. Mrs. Spiker herself took the role of the charwoman, and her acting sustained her reputation in Atlanta's dramatic circles.

Miss Tinsley Harrison, who formerly was on the stage, featured as Smith's butterfly daughter, who, although surrounded by a wealth of luxury, had often felt the stirring appeals of ambition and the fire of love in her life. Milton McGovern, as her betrothed, acquitted himself in great fashion, and won favorable comment on all sides.

It was J. LeRoy Duncan, Atlanta's favorite amateur actor, who starred first and foremost of all. Mr. Duncan took the difficult role of Smith, about whom practically the entire play was based. Smith's reformation by means of the vision of the starry way, as interpreted by Mr. Duncan, was nothing short of wonderful.

Miss Frances Stirling Clarke, as Aspiration, and Miss Marion Berry, as Humility, both did well their parts. Mrs. Hamilton Block, as Love, held the admiring eyes of her audience. Henry Heinz, as the Angel at the Gate; Mr. Ware as Training; Charles E. Robertson as a Monk, and T. Clifton Perkins as Greed, all displayed a world of talent and ability to act.

Sunday afternoon's performance of "The Starry Way" will be awaited with interest by the public.

BANKERS WILL DEMAND CERTIFIED STATEMENTS

The president of one of the large banks in Chicago writes: "The movement among bankers to encourage, if not demand, that statements made by borrowers, as a basis of credit, should be verified and certified to by a public accountant, has my heartiest sympathy and support.

"Many of our best borrowers voluntarily supply them and their number is constantly increasing."

Habit makes custom and custom makes law. It is but a question of a short time when all banks will demand "certified" statements from borrowers.
